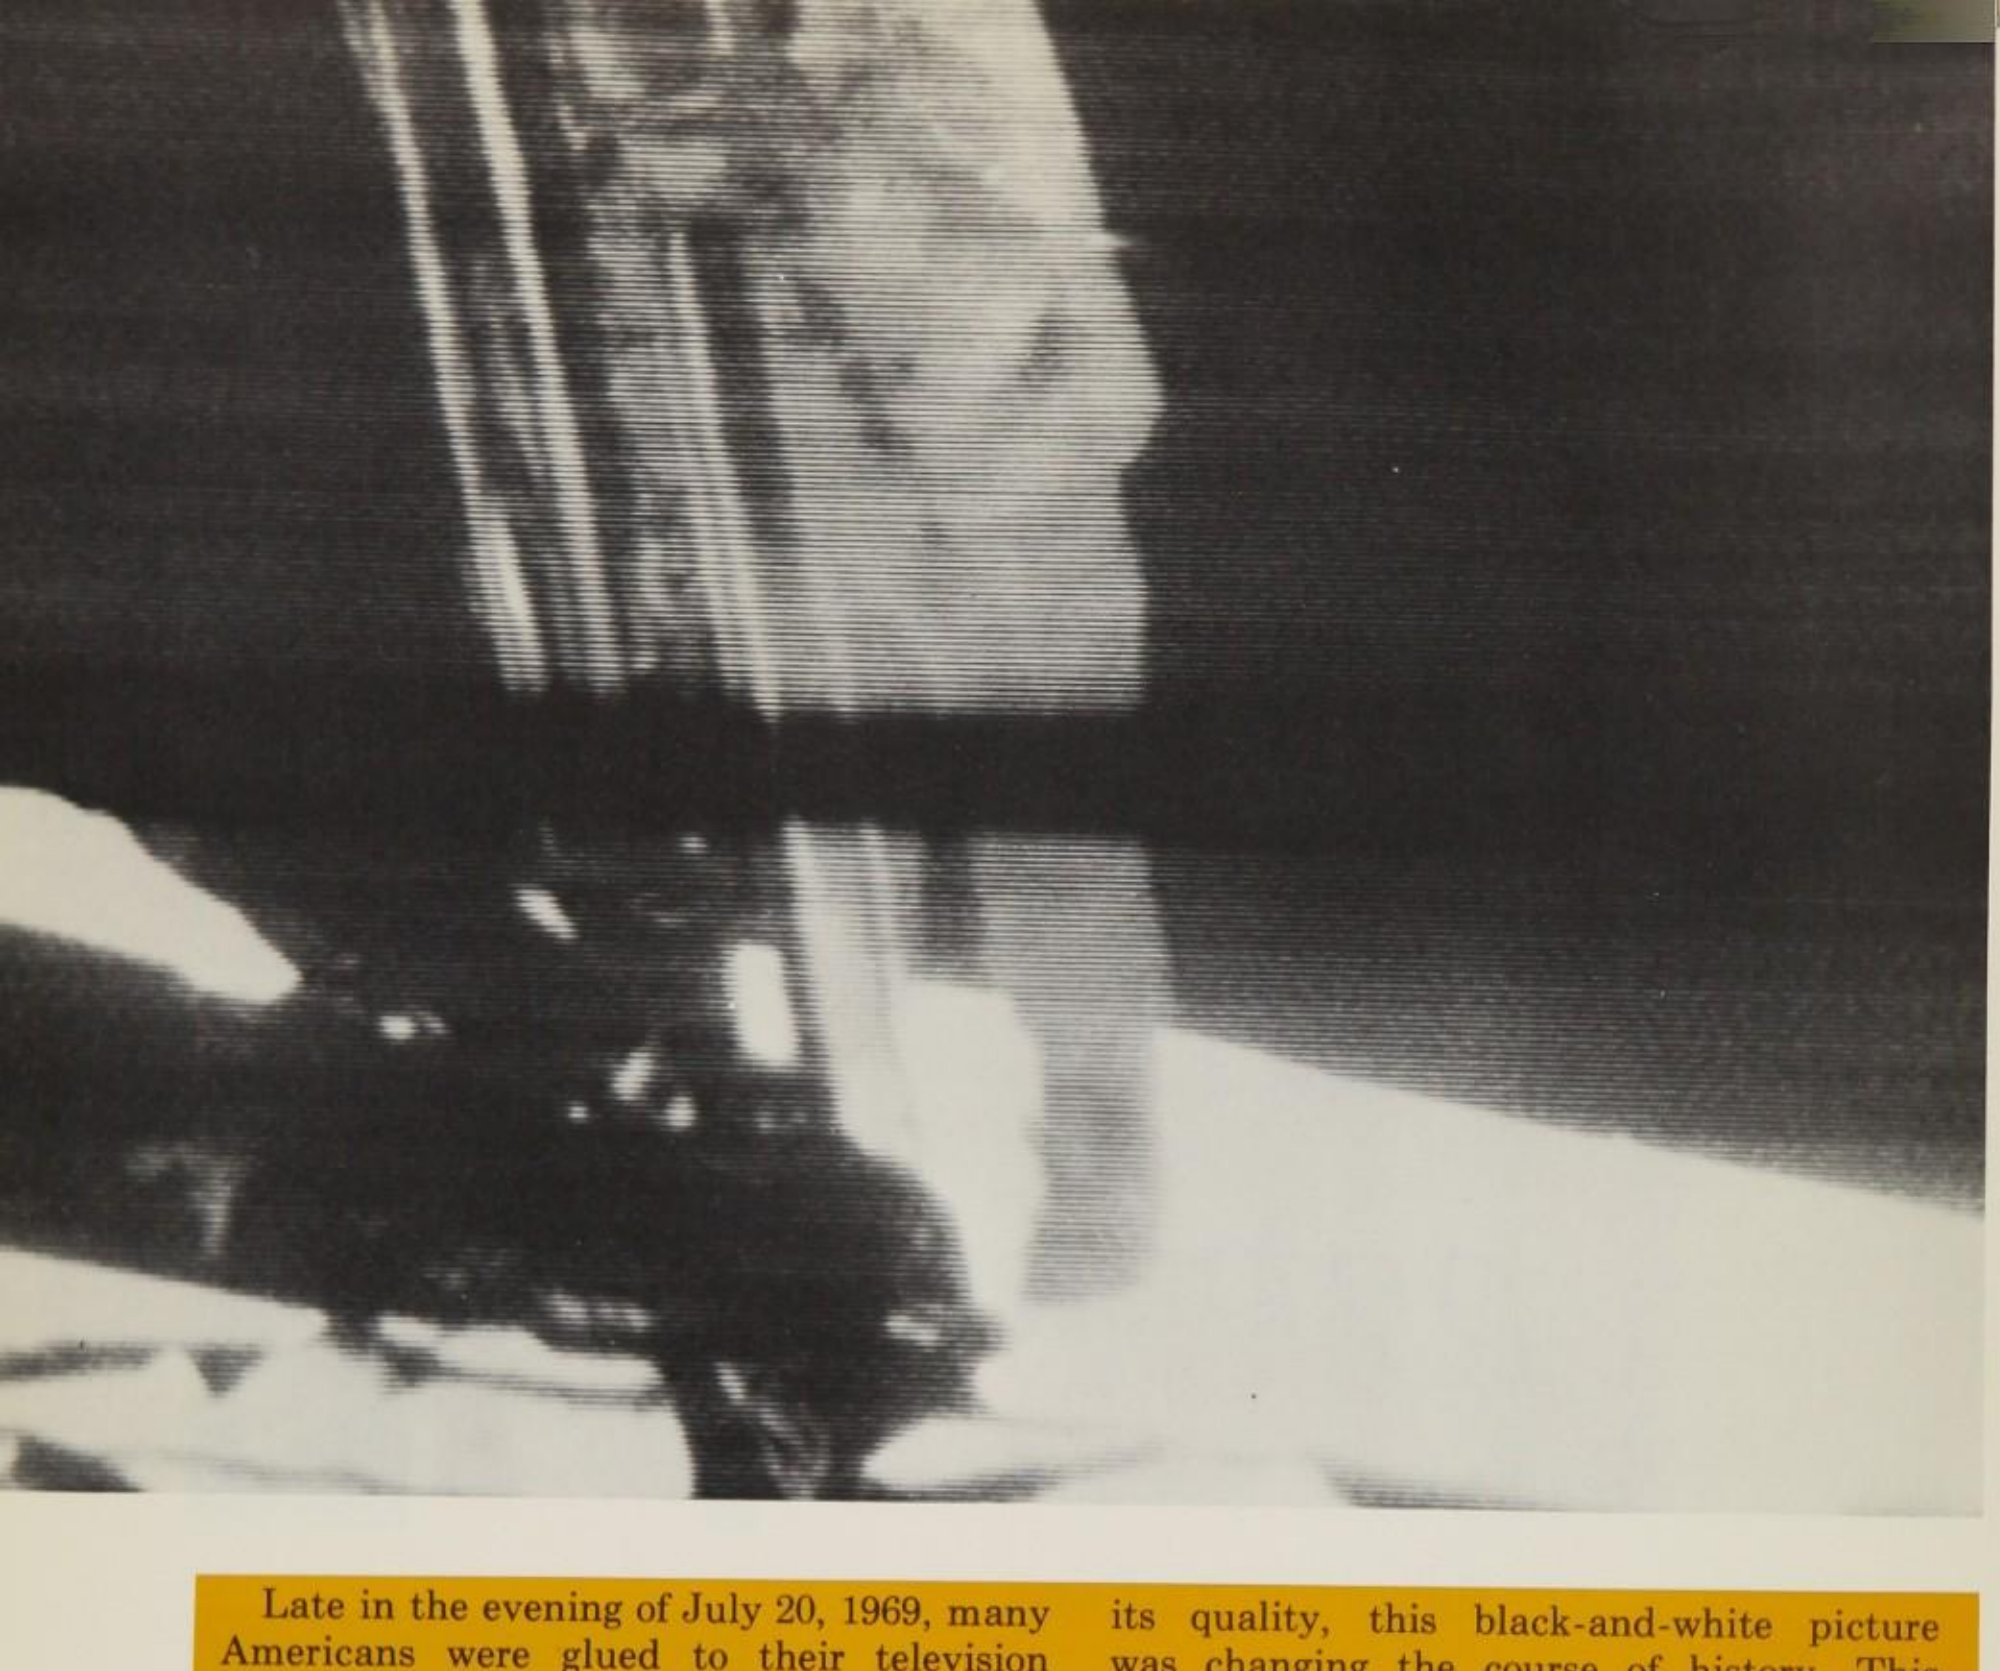
Seymour Senior High School

Seymour, Indiana



Late in the evening of July 20, 1969, many Americans were glued to their television screens. Knowing the astronauts had already guided their spacecraft successfully to the moon, these people waited anxiously. The screen crackled and appeared "snowy"; by normal standards, the picture was poor. Suddenly, the silhouette of Neil Armstrong appeared on the moon. Although this weak silhouette appeared for only a few seconds before technicians back on earth improved its quality, this black-and-white picture was changing the course of history. This man, along with many other Americans, is paving the way for future generations. Each year students leave Seymour Senior High School; their silhouettes too, will have the chance to leave a lasting impression in history. Taking this contour of Neil Armstrong's momentous walk as our inspiration, the 1970 Patriot Staff humbly presents . . .

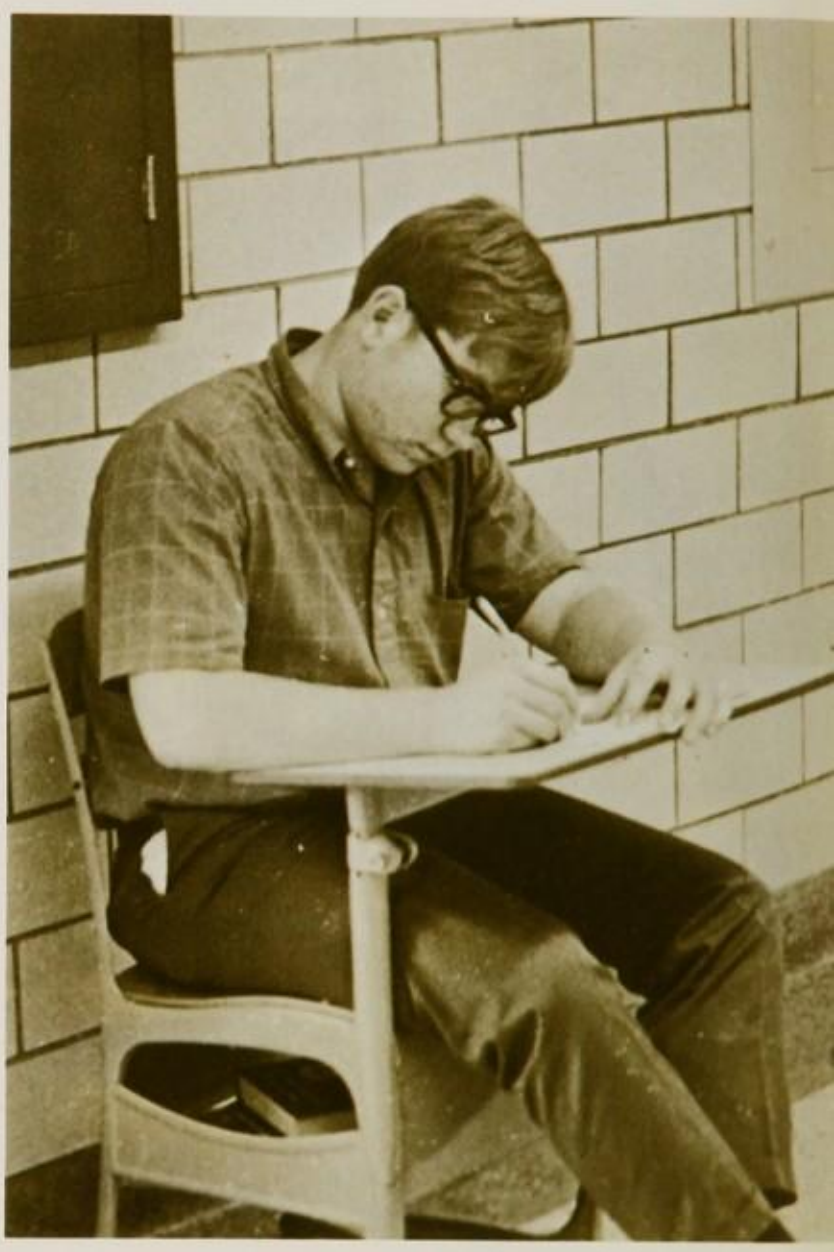
STUDENT LIFE

Everyday Activities Make Up Our Day

Football hopefuls try on newly issued equipment on August 15, two-and-a-half weeks before other SSHS students began worrying about school.



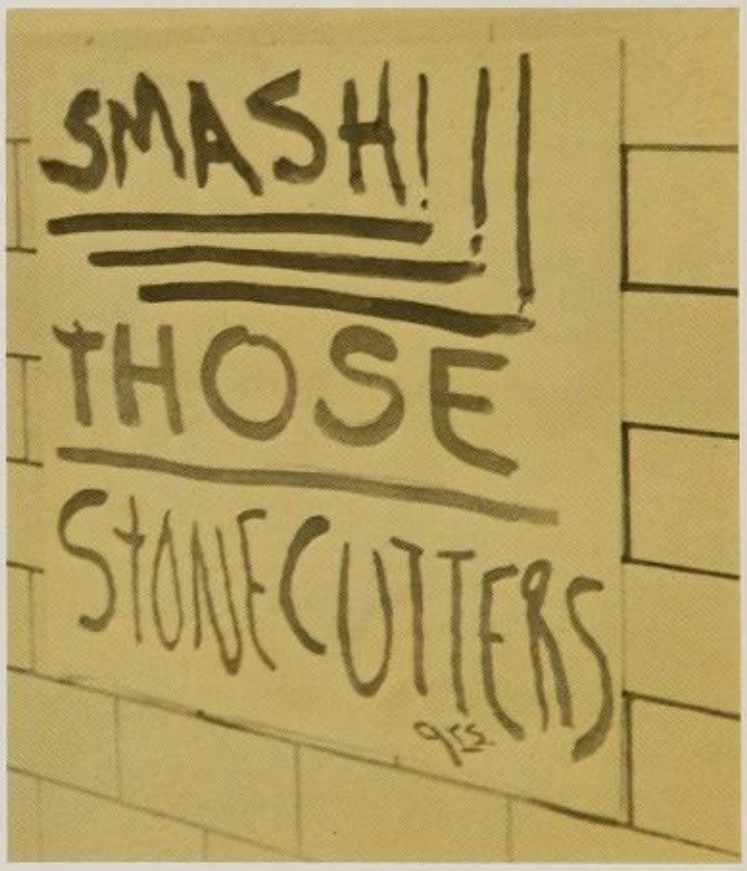
Joe Traylor goes through what all SSHS students go through at least once—making up a physics test.

Mr. Horton and Mr. Geuder prove teachers also need a moment of relaxation.

The student life at SSHS is silhouetted in everyday activities. Before the daily routine of school started, however, some students gave up an extra month of summer vacation to prepare for football. But then as school days started, the moments were filled with make-up tests and bits of relaxation for students and teachers alike. Although the thoughts about tests or books might have gotten us down at times, at noon we always had a chance to sit and chat about tests, friends, or upcoming football games. This has been our life here in the halls of SSHS—silhouettes of friends, books, and signs of spirit. These silhouettes of the year 1970 promise to bring many enjoyable and nostalgic thoughts of our everyday student life at SSHS.

Barb Speer is caught in a thoughtful mood as she does one of the everyday activities of every student here at SSHS—daydreaming.

At morning and at noon we spent close to an hour each day in one of our favorite haunts, the student center.

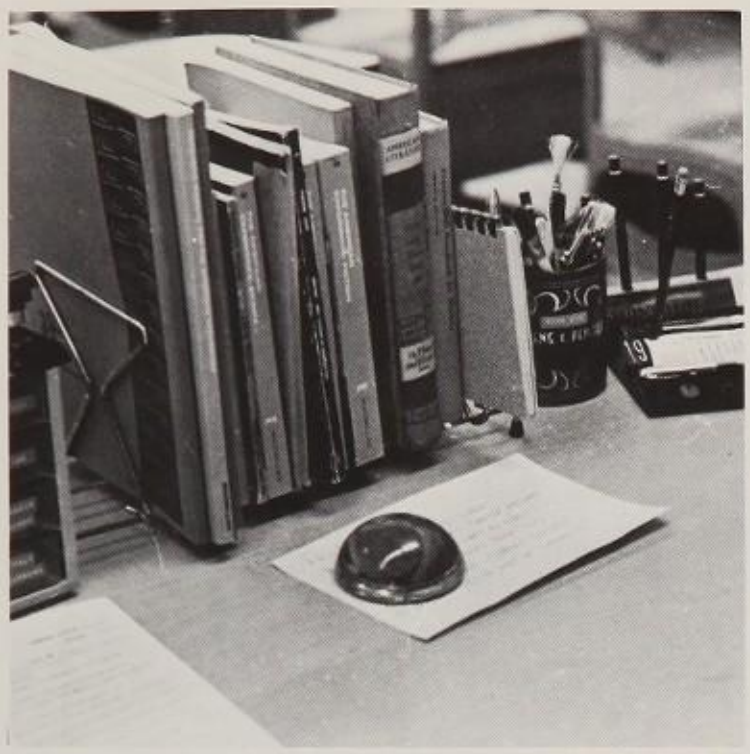


A typical scene in the halls of SSHS is the many signs made by the Pep Club to arouse school spirit.

Books piled in the student center attested that sometimes we were rushed.

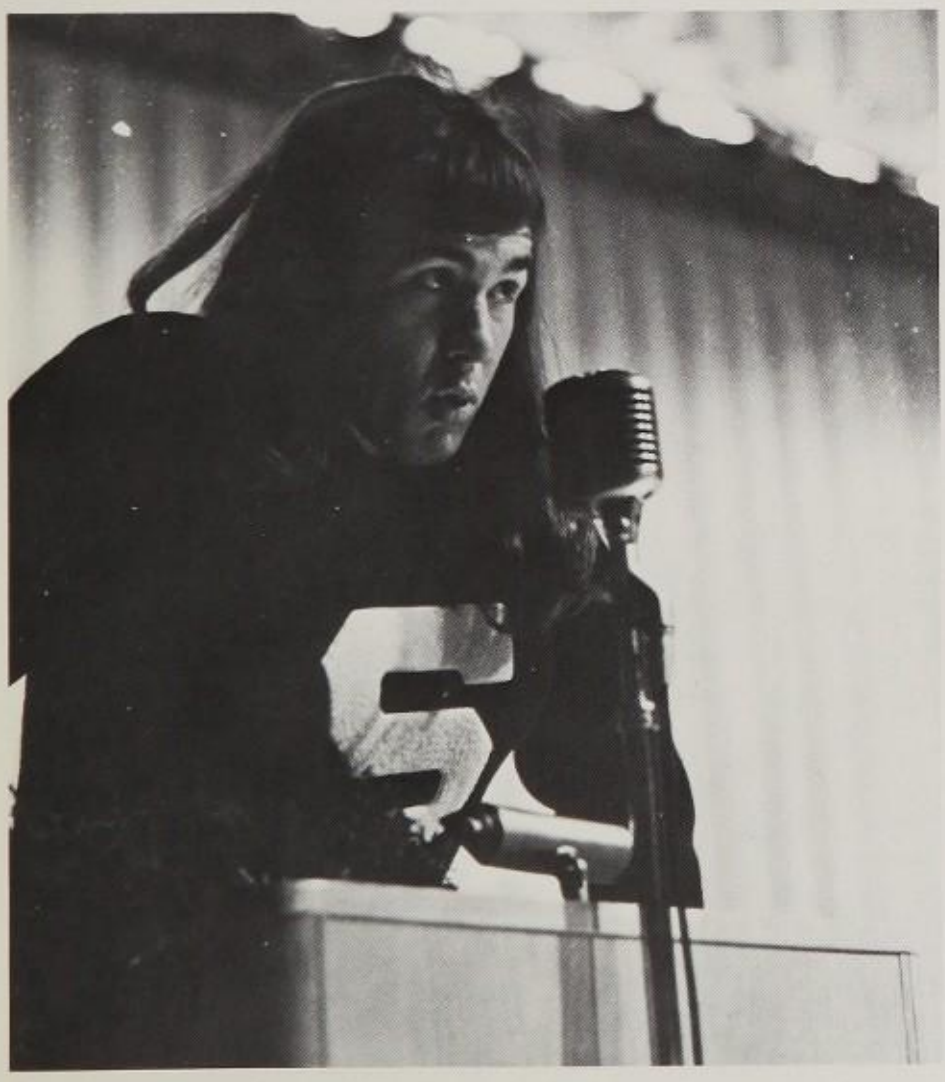
Guiding the Owls throughout the year at the basketball games, three-year-old Sammy the Owl is beginning to show his age.

This year the students at SSHS have experienced a variety of new ideas. Some may have found that driving a driver's ed. car was difficult, while other new students were shocked by the appearance of a teacher's desk. Pep sessions were enlivened by the new boys' cheerblock while an old-time supporter, Sammy the Owl, stood by. And, of course, another new experience for SSHS students was walking past the new gym. This has certainly been a year of new experiences.



A typical everyday scene at SSHS is a teacher's desk covered with numerous books, pencils, and notes.

The "mini" and "maxi" were highlighted this year.



The "lovely" Kelley Reid puts on a new face at a pep session as he portrays an SSHS yell leader.

"Debbie and Denny" became a typical pair sharing a table in the Student Center before daily classes begin.

Summer School Offers Informality

Approximately 420 students attended the 1969 session of summer school. They were offered courses in four different fields which were government, U.S. History, driver education, and biology. Many new students were surprised about the differences between the summer session and winter session. An informal atmosphere mixed with informal dress permitted the students to combine fun with study, as they gossiped during the hourly breaks. While the summer session was in progress, the school administration worked long hours to untangle the computer programming which was in its first year of use.

SSHS Offers a Variety of Subjects

An art class watches a slide projector and listens to an accompanying recording as they practice sketching architectural forms.

The noise is deafening as students clatter away on that infernal contraption—the typewriter.

Dressed against the mid-October cold, the Marching Owls practice pre-game formations on a Thursday before a game.

Seymour Senior High School has a varied curriculum. Students get an idea of the variety offered here as they march around the football field for band or sit in the close confines of a crowded Latin class. Variety also occurs in such diverse examples as a choir of eighty girls to twenty students studying drama techniques. Students also notice an assortment of subjects and the skills involved when they balance the talk needed for a group discussion against the mechanical ability achieved in a typing class.

Although SSHS is overcrowded this year, the administration still strives for variety. Many classes do not have a place of their own to meet; yet a place has been found for them somewhere in the building. An example: power shop met in the home ec. room during the first semester!

Upper left: Girls scatter out over the room as they work on individual sewing assignments. Above: Mr. Wright takes time out to give personal help to a machine shop student.

New Addition Takes Shape

Seen from the top of the auditorium in late August, the new classroom building almost covers the former parking lot. The new air-conditioning unit, visible in the lower left, will make the summer sessions more bearable.

Barely more than huge gaping holes in the ground when SSHS students went home for the summer vacation in May of 1969, the three new buildings had begun to take on definite shapes by the time the 1969-70 school year began in early September.

Slowly, girders rose as awkward silhouettes in the air at first, but they too quickly took shape as bricks and limestone were placed on their outlines.

Students never really got used to the inconvenience of walking through mud to get from their cars to the original building each day, but no one ever complained very loudly because everyone knew that those monstrosities of brick and steel would eventually house an 8,000-seat gymnasium, an indoor swimming pool, and over a dozen new classrooms including such new features as a greenhouse, a scenery room for dramatics class and school plays, a live-animal room for advanced biology classes, and rooms built specifically for auto mechanics and building trades.

The huge girders in the new gymnasium form a dark silhouette against the sky in early autumn.

Only containing a floor of sand when this picture was taken, the new L-shaped pool caused more excitement than any other feature.

The most imposing new structure was the new gym. Long before the first whistle, it promised to be the Owls' pride and joy.

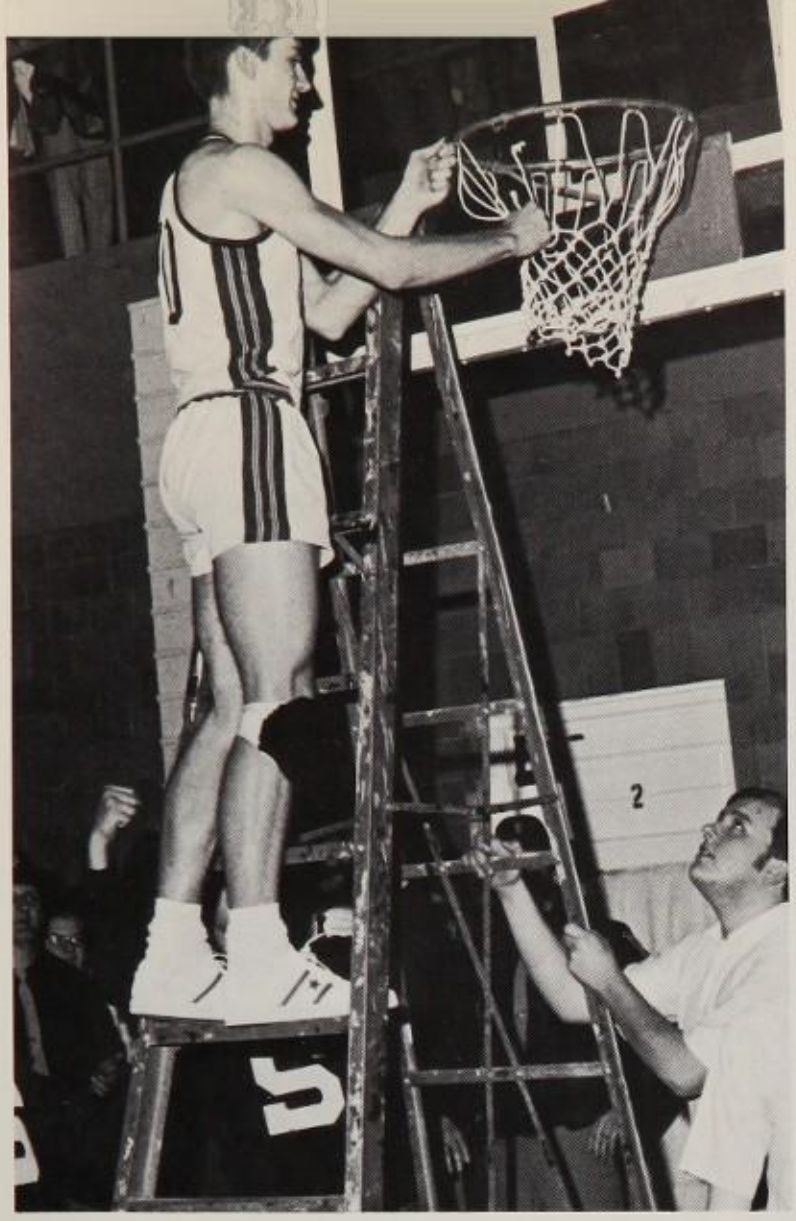
The highlights of the new classroom section were the brand-new auto mechanics and building trades rooms.

1970 Offered Its Share of Highlights

1970 at SSHS was filled with many highlights. These ranged from school elections to a state-ranked basketball team. Since 1970 was the last year for Shields Memorial Gymnasium and the 60th anniversary of basketball at Seymour, coaches and players were highlighted at a Mid-Season Tourney. College night was a great help to college-bound students, while Open House allowed for the parents and teachers alike to understand the school better. Another $4,500,000 highlight was our new gymnasium, which will be an Owl highlight for years to come.

During student elections, Mr. Miller uses a mock-up of the voting machine to brief sophomores before they take their turns behind the green curtains. SSHS students vote for their representatives each fall.

The whole gamut of emotions is evident on the dads' faces during the annual Dads' Night football game. The dads sit on the sidelines as special guests of the athletic department and are honored during halftime ceremonies.



Tossing in the two winning points in the final sectional basketball game gave Dan Deputy the honor of cutting the first strand of the sectional nets.

One of the highlights during Seymour's sixtieth year of basketball—an undefeated season—was the presenting of gifts to three of the original 1910 basketball team.

Left, during the Mid-Season Tourney, nine of the fourteen coaches in Seymour's sixty years of basketball were honored. Of these nine, the faces of Mr. Englehardt, Mr. Deputy, and Mr. Scott are the most familiar to SSHS students. Below, capturing their first sectional championship since 1967, the Seymour basketball team and cheerleaders were jubilant after a close 83—84 win.

Students Hold Down a Variety of Jobs

Junior Pete Baxter keeps a wary eye on the grill while he checks the french fries in the deep fryer.

Students at SSHS spend many hours a week working in various businesses in Seymour. These jobs range anywhere from learning to cook dozens of hamburgers at once to putting shoes back into a seemingly endless number of boxes to checking the fluid in some car's battery.

Seymour High's students have a multitude of reasons for going out and getting these jobs, ranging from saving money for college to learning new skills while on the job.

Without the help of these hard-working students, many local firms would be at a great loss. Each spring, dozens of SSHS students become part of Seymour's full-time work force or leave town to go away to college, but there's a whole new group to fill these gaps, in a never-ending cycle.

Dressed in a housecoat as a promotional gimmick for the J. C. Penney Co., senior Liz Scales rings up another sale.

Paul Switzer, an SSHS sophomore, tackles the never-ending task of putting shoes back on the shelves.

Barb Koop, a senior, courteously stands by while a customer listens to a record.

With a silver background, junior Luanne Lightner presents a melting dish to a customer at Parker's.

SSHSers Spend Their Time in Different Ways

When classes aren't in session and the books have been put away, students at SSHS often find themselves with leisure time on their hands. With a student enrollment of over a thousand, this time gets sliced up in a variety of ways. Sometimes it's constructive—maybe lending a helping hand at the local hospital. Many times, however, it's just well-deserved spare time —riding around town or "diggin' the latest sounds" at a Last Exit dance.

Joyce Von Dielingen and Teresa McCarty order their Saturday lunch at the Burger Chef, a habit practiced by many SSHS students.

Top: Steve Grelle and Ginger Sweasy get ready to take a short Sunday afternoon drive. Above: Many SSHS students spend their extra time riding around town, seldom leaving the corner of Second and Chestnut as bare as the picture above.

Vicki Baker works as a Candy-Striper at our local hospital, a pastime shared by many SSHS girls.

A familiar Friday night pastime was entering the darkened door of the Last Exit to attend a dance.

Leisure time is an important part in anyone's life, especially a teenager's. At SSHS, students balance their time between spare activities and helping others around them. These may range from a night at the Von-Dee to giving of oneself to help some of the youngsters in the community.

Margaret Jones, 1969 Homecoming Queen

Mike Sentz, co-captain of the football team, places the crown on Margy's head during halftime ceremonies as her court and their escorts look on.

The Homecoming Game is an annual SSHS event. Besides being a time for old grads to get together, the game also presents the Homecoming Queen and her Court to all the fans. After the traditional convertible ride around the track in pregame ceremonies, Margaret Jones, senior, was crowned as queen, with Debbie Barnthouse and Kathy Shade serving as her court.

1970 Sectional Queen and Court

Since the Owls won the school's first sectional in the past three years, it seemed only fitting that "royalty" should be chosen to reign over all the festivities. Consequently, at the pep session held during Sectional week, seniors Denise Allen and Stan Schroer were chosen by a vote of the student body to serve as Sectional Queen and King. Serving in their court were Jill Steinberger and Baron Hill, juniors; and Kathy Shade and Tim Henkle, sophomores.

Representing the 1969 junior class as the Prom Court for "Tahitian Paradise" were: Denise Allen, Kim Berry, Margaret Jones, Angela Rhoades, and Lora Stone. In the winter of 1969, ballots to choose the 1969 Prom Court had been passed out to the boys of the junior class. The results of the voting were kept secret for five long months until on May 23, 1969, Jim Roberts, the junior class president, climaxed the evening by crowning Margaret as queen. The four other lovely juniors served as her court.

1970 Junior Prom Committees

Brenda Russell, General Chairman.

Each year, the Junior class of SSHS hosts the Junior-Senior Prom which is held in May. Mr. Lysko, chairman of the junior class sponsors, with the help of other teachers, selected and placed students on committees. Early in February, Brenda Russell was appointed the General Chairman of the 1970 Junior Prom. With the help of the sponsors, and under Brenda's direction all the committees began their work in late winter—first to decide a theme, then to plan decorations that would portray that theme. Little by little, all the other committees began to co-ordinate their work—selecting a band, ordering refreshments, preparing handwritten invitations, choosing sophomore servers—to the theme and decorations motif. After four months of time-consuming duties, the junior class presented their handiwork in the formal dance of the school year—the 1970 Junior Prom.

Tahitian Prom Honors Upperclassmen

Enhancing the tropical scene were five of our own Tahitian Princesses. These junior girls, Denise Allen, Kim Berry, Margaret Jones, Angela Rhoades, and Lora Stone, crossed over the multi-colored bridge as Margaret was crowned queen.

The 1969 Junior-Senior Prom drifted off to the far off Island of Tahiti, reproducing a "Tahitian Paradise." After strolling up the torch-lit walkways to the tropical scene, couples peeped through an authentic grass hut into an exotic jungle draped with flowers, vines, and assorted colors. Dotting this jungle were smaller tribal huts and quaint candle-lit tables, where young dates sipped punch and nibbled cookies. Dominating the Student Center, a gigantic "live" volcano spewed out fiery reds and oranges across the faces of dancing couples. Other juniors and seniors, not wishing to dance, sat and recalled the hectic moments when committees were busy at work on decorations, costumes, and refreshments. Concluding the evening on a tissue-covered bridge which crossed over a small pond twinkling with tiny candles, was the crowning of Margaret Jones as queen of the event.

Mr. Lysko, a junior sponsor, repairs a last minute leak in the pond.

After being crowned queen of the 1969 Junior-Senior Prom, Margaret Jones cradled the dozen red roses presented to her.

Choirs' Performances Add Music to the 1969-1970 School Year

Eagerly awaited and professionally presented at intervals throughout the school year were musicals, plays, and concerts provided by such organizations as the Advanced Choir, Swing Choir, Concert Choir, and the various groups within the Band Department.

Princess "Fred" shows Dauntless that she's worthy to be his bride in "Once Upon a Mattress."

After Fred's show of strength, Prince Dauntless is swept off his feet by her beatuy and grace. Below: The Swing Choir entertained at both convocations and the annual Christmas Concert.

In "Once Upon a Mattress," the whole kingdom rejoices after Princess Winifred reveals that she's a worthy candidate to be Prince Dauntless's bride.

Members of the royal court cavort around the stage, doing their version of the "Spanish Panic."

Concert Band's Programs Delight Large Audiences

Bowing as he walks, Band Director Stephen McGrew returns to the podium after accepting the band's richly deserved applause.

As the weather turns cold, the hard-working Marching Owls of Seymour doff their marching ensembles in favor of the concert uniforms, and smoothly make the switch to Seymour's Symphonic Band. During the winter and on into spring, the members practice long hours, but these efforts are rewarded as the Concert Band presents its annual winter and spring concerts. This year, an added highlight occurred when the Seymour bandsmen were hosts to the "Good Neighbor Festival" in the spring, a concert presenting band members from all over Southern Indiana.

'69 Juniors Offer "The American Dream"

Below: "Grandma" consoles "the American Dream." Right: The entire cast—Jeanine Jones, George Green, Bob Hazzard, Cherie Beamer, and Janice Otte.

The '69 Junior Class Play marked Seymour's first venture into the style of the Theater of the Absurd. The plot of Edward Albee's "The American Dream" unfolds in terms of an American family in search of a replacement for the adopted child that did not give "satisfaction" and died. The replacement arrives in the form of a young man who will do anything for money—so he even consents to become their "American Dream."

Student Dramatists Present "Arsenic and Old Lace"

Each year the Dramatics Club presents its own play, in addition to the class plays during the year. To the delight of the two packed houses that attended, the 1969 Winter selection was "Arsenic and Old Lace."

New Drama Class Offers Plays at SSHS Convocations

New in the SSHS curriculum this year was a dramatics class. Not only did this class allow students to study the dramatic arts in more depth than a class play could, it provided the whole student body with three convos, including "Dust of the Road."

Award Winners

The halls of SSHS are silhouetted by the faces of various recognized award winners. These winners are recognized for many reasons. Some students have given of their summer-time to attend workshops, while other students have been outstanding in academic and extra-curricular activities. Still there are other students who have won contests or have scored well on tests and are therefore awarded honors. Most contest winners are now eligible to compete in county, state, or national competition. The year 1970 has been a silhouette of awards for these students and a promise of a more rewarding future.

Chosen to represent SSHS in the "Outstanding Teenagers of America" contest were Peggy Stahl, Rick Mousa, and Dan Deputy.

Tom Reinhart, John Baurle, Robert Anderson, and Rick Mousa (below) were chosen to represent SSHS at Hoosier Boys' State.

These three girls, Julie Cupp, Margaret Jones, and Diana Mitchell, attended Girls' State last summer.

Steve Martin, Jim Rindahl, Steve Wolter, Dan McGill and Robert Anderson were awarded the Letter of Commendation by the National Merit Scholarship Program.

Elizabeth Scales was chosen to attend the 38th National Girls' Scout Convention.

Steven Wente won the local school award from the American Legion Orator contest.

Lou Kilgas and Jane Scales went to IU last summer to attend the Latin Institute being offered.

Diana Halsey attended the IU Social Studies Institute last summer to further her study in U.S. History.

Peggy Stahl and Kim Berry were awarded with a trip to the Journalism Workshop at Northwood Institute.

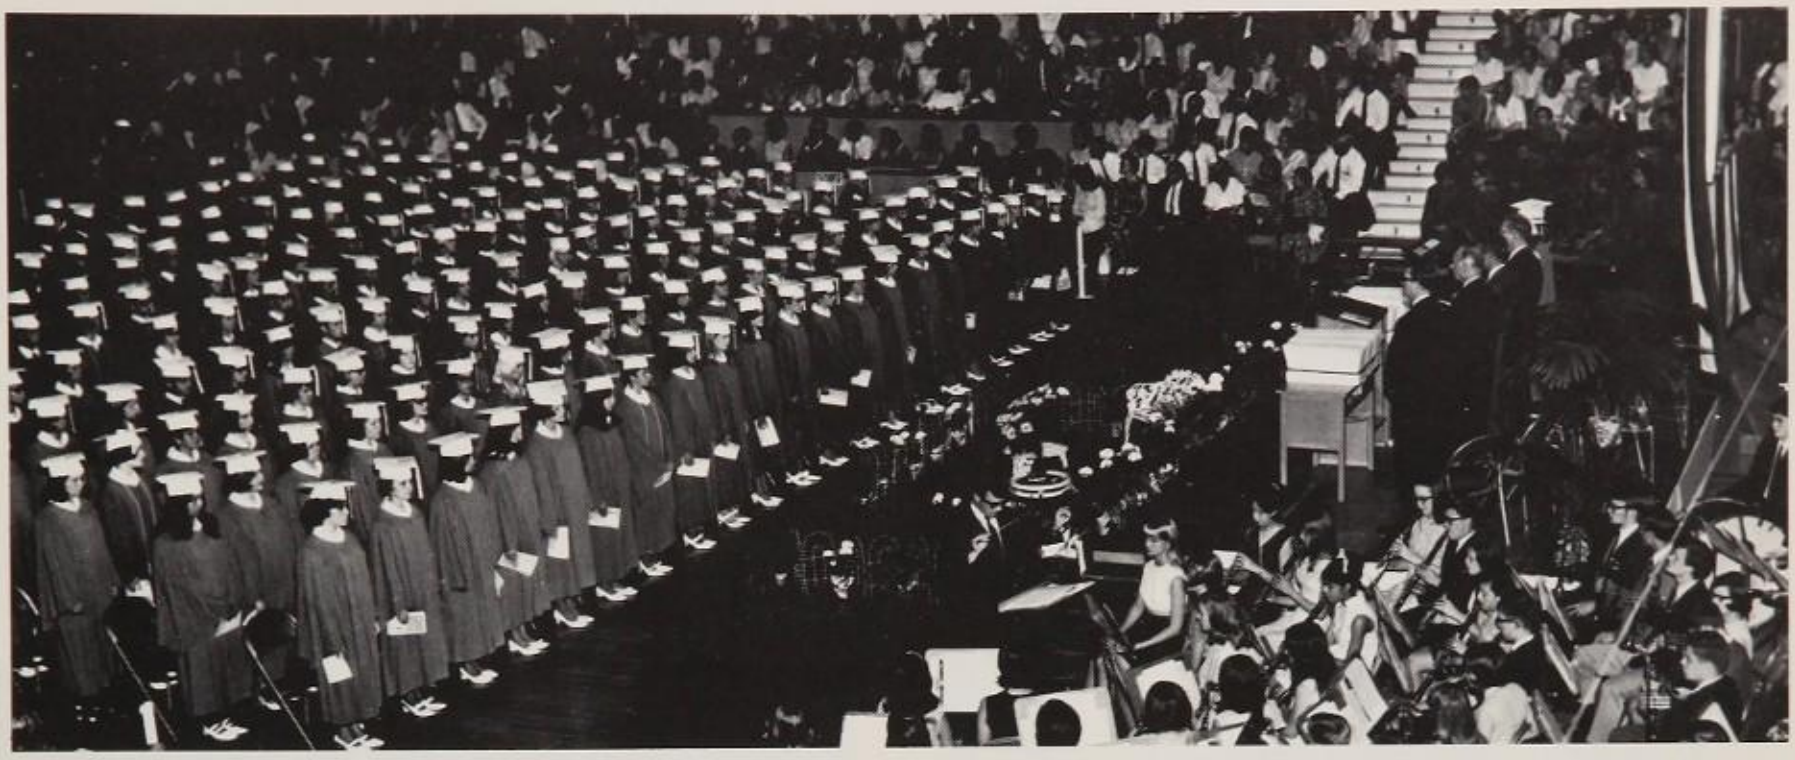
Debbie Brown and Sherry Weld attended the United Methodist Washington and United Nations Seminar.

Peggy Stahl was chosen DAR Good Citizen and also was a first place winner of the county Elks Youth Leadership Contest.

Jane Kysar won the Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow Contest after scoring the highest on the test she submitted.

Jeanine Jones represented SSHS at the IU Speech and Theater High School Institute.

260 Graduate in '69



The class of 1969 had 260 graduates. From this class, 31 students graduated at the end of seven semesters. The class of 1969 was the first class that was able to graduate at the end of seven semesters.

Parents, relatives, and friends of the 1969 graduates crowded into the gymnasium to view the formal graduation exercises. The 260 graduates received their diplomas on Thursday, May 24, 1969.

SILHOUETTES OF PEOPLE

Superintendent and Board

Robert B. Bulleit, Superintendent of Schools

The Board of School Trustees consists of seven members, three of which are appointed by the Seymour City Council, and four of which are appointed by each one of the other townships, Hamilton, Jackson, Redding, and Washington.

The members of the Board select the Superintendent of Schools, who, as the Board's chief officer, maintains the responsibility of administration of all of the schools. His job includes advising the Board on educational matters, organizing and supervising the schools' curriculum, preparing the budget, and nominating the officers and staff connected with the schools. The Superintendent also decides on the courses of study, plans the construction of school buildings, and keeps records of those activities prescribed by the Board and agencies of the State of Indiana. He and the Board meet regularly each month.

James T. Thompson, Board President

Jack Oathout, Board Vice-President

Lester W. Swengel, Board Secretary

Edwin A. Blish, Board Member

Charles W. Cordes, Board Member

Donald H. Ernest, Board Member

Harry Schepman, Board Member

Administrative Personnel

Left: Mr. Paul Bell is the Administrative Assistant. He handles the purchase and distribution of school supplies and equipment. He also is in charge of bus maintenance and transportation within the school system.

Right: Mr. Charles Seville is the Director of Curriculum and Instruction. He plans the courses to be followed for all twelve grades including kindergarten. He is also in charge of adult classes and the schools' testing program.

Left: Mrs. Rowena Lewis the newly appointed Attendance Officer. In addition to this task, she issues work permits, aids in high school counseling, and is in charge of entrances and withdrawals.

Right: Miss Willma Rose Smith is the school nurse. She readily assists any student in need of medical attention. Two of her jobs include tine testing and eye testing of SSHS sophomores.

Left: Miss Carol Phillips is the new Speech and Hearing Therapist. Her new job includes the annual job of hearing tests for the sophomores and speech assistance for any student desiring help.

Right: Mrs. Helen Eglen is the secretary in the SSHS main office. She is responsible for all records that pass through that office. Both faculty and students find her help invaluable during the year.

Left: Mrs. Lucille Williams is the school treasurer. She is responsible for all financial incomes and expenditures. She also runs the bookstore, providing all students with necessary supplies.

Right: Mrs. Lois Buzzaird also works in the main office. She assists Mrs. Eglen whenever needed. Her main duty is taking shorthand and typing letters for all the office personnel.

Principal and Assistant Principal

The principal of Seymour Senior High School is Robert T. Burton. In this position, his duties are varied: he arranges class schedules during the summer months; he puts students into these classes; he implements the SSHS philosophy throughout the school year; he holds conferences with students, parents, and school personnel; he writes recommendations for graduating and transfering SSHS students; and he must co-ordinate the activities of all the various school organizations. An added burden during the 1969-70 school year was the construction of the three new buildings.

Lloyd "Barney" Scott is Seymour's assistant principal. He assists Mr. Burton, assumes the principal's duties in his absence, handles disciplinary problems, and schedules daily time changes.

Robert T. Burton, Principal

Lloyd "Barney" Scott, Assistant Principal

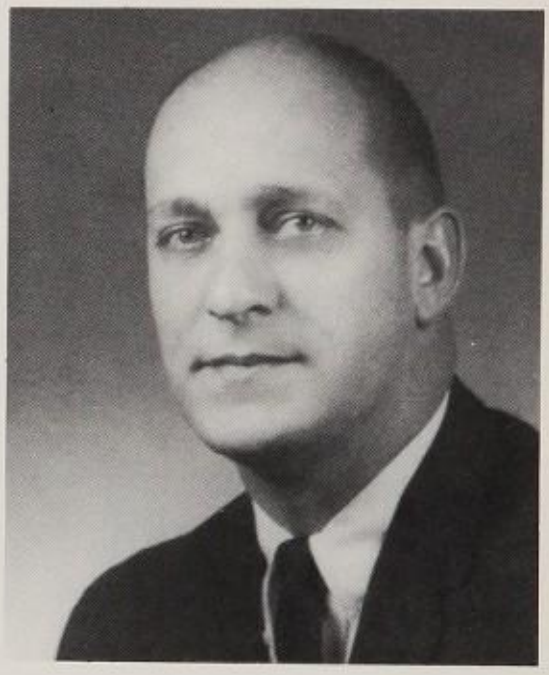
One of Mr. Scott's varied duties is reading the daily bulletin over the school intercom system each morning.

The Counselors

Mr. Warren Keyser, Dean of Boys, and Mrs. Jessie Ruth Lewis, Dean of Girls, help SSHS students choose their courses and colleges which will fit their future careers. In addition, they help the students with personal problems and the administration with disciplinary problems. Another member of the SSHS Guidance Department is Mr. Jack Miller, Vocational Counselor. He is constantly conferring with Seymour businessmen who call him to offer job opportunities to SSHS students. He also helps students with future jobs.

Mr. Warren Keyser

Mrs. Jessie Ruth Lewis

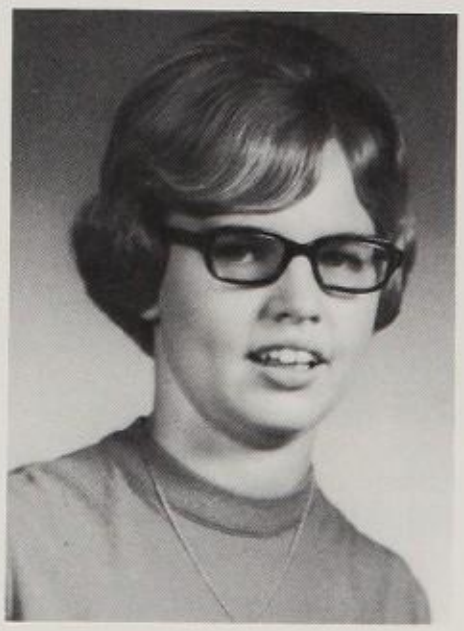


Mr. Jack Miller

Miss Carrie O. Ryan

Right: Mrs. Sharon Legge is the SSHS librarian. She is in charge of acquiring all books for the school library, processing them, and keeping them in good condition. In addition, all the library's files and records must be kept up-to-date.

Left: Miss Carrie Ryan is the dietician for the Seymour Community Schools system. She plans and supervises the school lunch program for the Senior and Junior High Schools and all the grade schools within the city.



Mrs. Sharon Legge

Mr. Richard Bottorff

Miss Gladys Gilpen

Mr. Arthur Jones

Mr. William Lasater

Mr. Edwin Lyskowinski

Social Studies Dept.

Everyone needs to know the "how" and "why" of everything. Social studies provide the answers. The classes in our school are geared to let the individual learn to appreciate his heritage, understand his economy, participate in his government, and deal sensibly and tactfully with others around him as well as with foreign nations. In the social studies classes both the teachers and students spend many interesting hours discussing past and current events. As the world grows smaller, people need to be able to understand the principles of our nation. Understanding why others act the way they do enables us to react reasonably. Understanding the mistakes others have made in the past helps us to avoid making the same ones. Two years of social studies is required to help prepare the student as a better citizen.

Mr. Harlan Dringenburg

Mr. Marvin Dyer

Miss Janis Graves

Mrs. Marilyn Hacker

Mrs. Ann Knight

Mrs. Sharon Tower

Business Dept.

Business classes are conducted in a manner that lets students become familiar with a business atmosphere. The new knowledge acquired enables students to enter the world with useful skills. Personality is also emphasized.

Modern typing, transcribing, law, machines, computers, and other facets of business are becoming more important each day. Business classes also help students going to college in finding part-time jobs. New equipment, new textbooks, and a well-trained teaching staff make acquiring new skills less difficult and more enjoyable.

CENTER: Mrs. Hacker assigns the next two pages to her first-year typing class.

RIGHT: Seniors crowd around Mr. Dyer's desk to ask about bookkeeping grades.

Agriculture Dept.

Mr. Nelson Lewis

The agriculture department gives interested boys a chance to practice farming. As the boys farm the school's ground located at Freeman Field, they learn the necessary procedures of planning and taking care of crops. Relatively new is the Related Occupations course which allows members to leave school at mid-day to actually work on a farm-related job, under the supervision of Mr. Nelson Lewis. A sturdy background of farming is provided by the agriculture department.

Home Economics Dept.

Miss Carol Carmichael

Mrs. Linda Seitz

The home economics department is divided into two basic sections. The first, headed by Mrs. Seitz, is clothing. In these courses, girls learn how to make suits, blouses, and other fundamental pieces of clothing. The second major division is the foods classes, under Miss Carmichael. Here, students learn how to properly plan and make meals. Home nursing and home management are also studied by the girls during this semester.

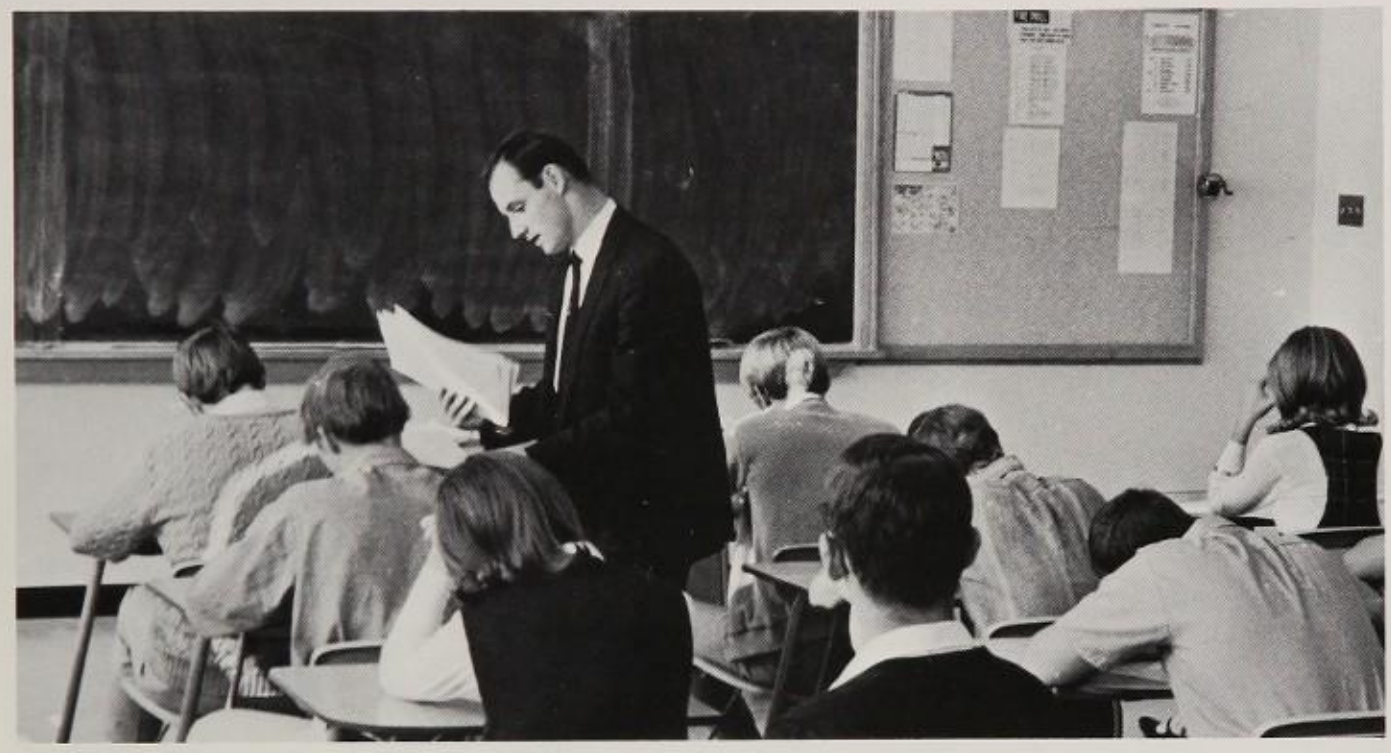
Foreign Language Dept.

As the world grows increasingly smaller, communication becomes even more important. Although the English language is very popular, it is not the only language spoken. Students take foreign languages in order to converse with others of that tongue. Knowledge of a foreign language also helps them to understand their own language. The culture of the people of that tongue being studied is also reviewed and discussed. A language lab is available for students to put their book work into practice by actually speaking and answering questions in the desired language.



Mr. Hollingsworth passes back test sheets to his Spanish II students.

Mr. Lambertus leads the discussion about German culture traits.

Mr. Gordon Reynolds

Mr. Joseph Suminski

The lab apron or a stuffed animal that a student has stuffed himself is a typical sight in a science class. Excellent facilities and student enthusiasm tend to make all science classes at SSHS quite challenging. Each and every day the science of the world is becoming more and more essential for human survival. This year even the earth is no longer our realm. Students learn to understand the past scientific achievements and are versed in the possibilities of the future.

Staring into a microscope for the first time is the thrill many sophomores experience. Then on they go to more advanced elective courses where they work with chemicals, plants, animals, and other intricate equipment.

The Science Department is set up to be of use to students intending to go to college and also to students going out into the world immediately after graduation. The variety runs the gamut from General Biology to math-oriented Advanced Chemistry.

English Dept.

In a variety of English classes, students learn to use and appreciate the English language, both formally and informally. Although literary interests vary from student to student, requirements within classes vary enough to enable each to "tackle" his "own thing." Grammar, speech, literature, and composition are the areas stressed most. A relaxed atmosphere is always present in order to let students express themselves. Many paperbacks, overhead projectors, records, and films are used as supplements to "bring home" the basic ideas. The program enables the student to have a good grip on his own language to pursue any field and to be able to communicate with others around him. Each class usually has certain paperbacks to read which are well-known classics. Creative writing is also encouraged. Emphasis goes back to COMMUNICATION in all classes, however.

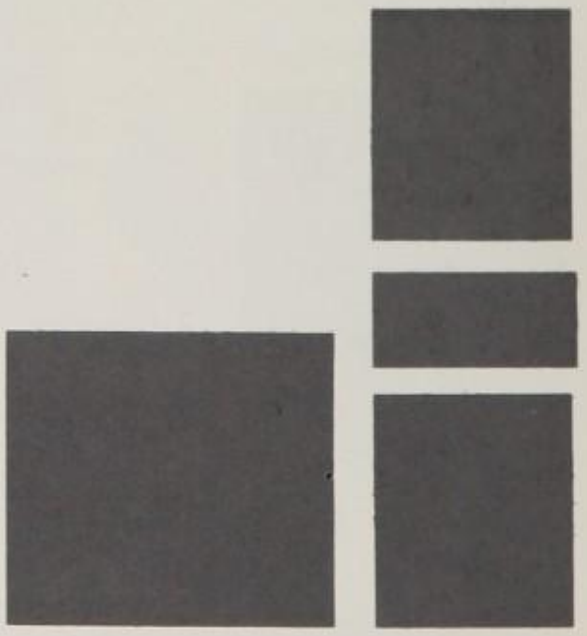
Mr. Charles Horton

Mr. Ray McClain

Mr. Jon Stahl

Mr. Donald Wright

Industrial Arts is designed for students to learn skills and apply them practically in up-to-date workshops. These classrooms could be compared to on-the-job training. Students start out with basic information in each course and progress to more difficult tasks. Machines, metal working, mechanical drawing, automobiles, and others are the facets offered in this section. Students get a chance to put their new knowledge into practice with the assistance of their fellow students and the instructor in charge.



At top: Mr. Wright takes a moment out of machine shop class to "straight cut" on a lathe, with students working in the background.

Art Dept.

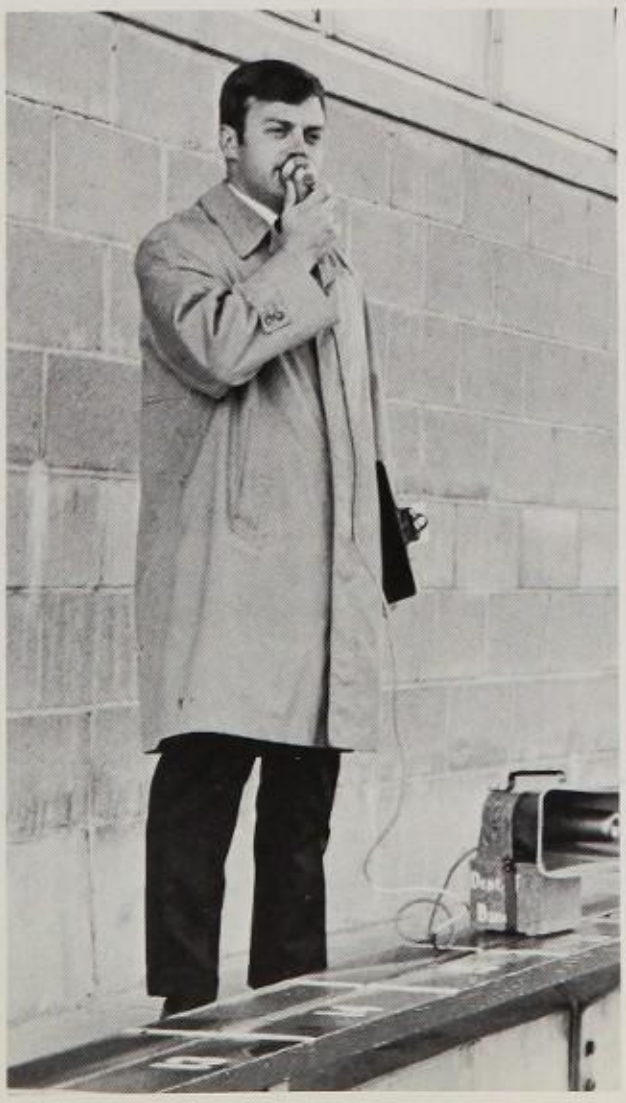
Mr. Charles Hunterman

Students are started with a study of art to help them understand this mode of expression. In the first two semesters of art here at SSHS, students learn the basic theories of design and color. In the following two semesters the field of commercial art is studied in depth and drawing and painting are highlighted. Art 5 and 6 gives the student a chance to work with ceramics and varied crafts. For those students who are extremely interested in the art field, there is a special art 7 & 8. "Learn by Doing" is the point highlighted.

Music Dept.

Mr. Stephen McGrew

Mr. Earl Prout



The Music Department is divided into two sections: choir and band. Band is composed of Symphonic Band, Concert Band, and the Marching Owls. Choir is divided into Concert Choir, General Chorus, Music Appreciation, and Beginning Theory. Students are placed in these categories by their ability and skill. However, time available to devote to these is another important factor. Musicals and concerts are presented by both groups. The department is also active at convos, pep sessions, and other school functions.

Math Dept.

Mr. John Chastain

Mr. J. Avery Dittmer

Mr. Richard Stickles

Mr. Harry Unger

In this era of moon landings and computers, man needs a wide mathematical knowledge. For a college bound student, three to four years of math are needed. Yet math is just as important to others. Math is a logical and practical study which students find use for everyday. Banking, preparing recipes, recording business transactions, and just everyday purchasing require a mathematical knowledge. Students are encouraged to ask for help whenever they do not understand the problems they undertake. Blackboards are used to explain and work with the more difficult problems that students are having trouble with.

Cooks and Custodians

Even though the jobs of the cafeteria ladies and the custodians are often left unnoticed, they still carry out an important role in the daily life of Seymour Senior High School.

Each day the ladies prepare a well-balanced meal for students and faculty alike. A few years ago, a new system offered two kinds of meals a person could choose from. An a la carte line was set up to provide a variety of foods and snacks to meet the appetites of every person. The regular line was kept and continued to provide a complete meal.

The janitors are also important. For example, each day every hall in the building is swept completely three times. With the mud carried in from the work area, this has become an extra chore, but SSHS's appearance is still spotless at the end of the day.

Class of 1970:

The faculty, staff, and I wish to congratulate you on your forthcoming graduation from Seymour Senior High School. You are fortunate to be entering a new decade with innumerable opportunities and challenges. Your possibilities are limited only by your enthusiasm and your goals. You are prepared to enter the world as a homemaker, or as a worker, or as a person interested in advanced technical or college training.

Whatever the role you wish, your education at SSHS has prepared you with the necessary skills and training.

Cyrano de Bergerac said: "I dream—and I forgot, and then I see the shadow of my profile on the wall!"

You 1970 graduates have every right to look backward with pride and ahead with confidence and dreams. Your family, your community, and in many ways, your world will look to you and your class for guidance and leadership. You will throughout your life cast shadows for others to see. Your shadow will be an indication and an evaluation of what you are, your attitudes, and your dreams. You are our future citizens and leaders. Leaders cast long shadows because they stand tall and reach very far.

My most sincere wishes for you.

Robert J. Burton

Class of 1970

On September 2, many seniors did not realize that this was really their last year at SSHS. With two years of hard work behind them, many looked forward to Commencement in May. But first, the long nine months of the school year had to be passed before the seniors could even think of graduation. The year was truly filled with memories from the start: the two-week magazine sale, the exchanging of senior pictures, the cap and gown measurements, the Senior Dinner, class committees, and the hectic schedule —both official and un-official—during Senior Week. During these busy months, seniors also had an endless number of assignments, tests, and research papers. Wondering where the years had gone, the seniors finally graduated, many of them unaware that after graduation, the entire Class of 1970 would never be together again.

Senior class officers elected at the first of the year were: president, Dan Deputy; secretary-treasurer, Kim Berry; vice-president, Jane Voss.

It Was a Very Good Year . . .

The brand-new boys' cheerblock was led by the senior boys who sat in the front of the section and lent their voices to each Owl basketball victory.

For some seniors, the year began away back in June, as the message board signaled the coming of summer school.

As the song indicates, it was a very good year . . . for seniors especially. It began with summer school, when many seniors took hours so that they could graduate at mid-year. It took them through bus trips, football games in a freezing rain, and a basketball season filled with the excitement of rooting for one of the top-ranked basketball teams in the state.

John Baurley emerges from the bus and heads for a Jeffersonville junior high school to begin dressing for an out-of-town football game.

Senior cheerleaders Judy and Denise huddle up in their new parkas to ward off the freezing rain that hit the stands during the Brownstown game.

Senior Sponsors and Committees

About mid-way through the second semester, senior activities really begin to get hectic—Class Day and Baccalaureate and Commencement have to be planned; the Senior Dinner has to be carried off successfully; and a gift has to be purchased by the class to be presented to the school. In each case class sponsors and senior committees work together to see that these duties are completed.

Class of 1971

1969-1970 was an exciting year for the junior class. Now they had gone past the lost feeling of being a sophomore, and they experienced a new feeling of being an upperclassman to someone once more. This year at SSHS also won them the right to wear a class ring, a most prized piece of jewelry. Although some couples didn't get to wear their own rings very much, this symbol reminded them that they would soon be seniors.

In the spring of 1970 the juniors showed their handiwork as they planned the Junior-Senior Prom. The committees and chairmen did an excellent job organizing this event. Their money-making project, the junior class play, was also quite a hit.

On class day, the juniors always look forward to that long-awaited moment when the senior class president hands the School Key to the junior president. This moment is quite a shock to them when they realize that in three short months they will be the senior class at Seymour Senior High School.

Junior class officers are: Joe Hackman, president; Nancy Snyder, secretary-treasurer, and Dan Sturgeon, vice-president.

Junior sponsors have one major job. This job is making sure that the Junior Prom is properly planned for and carried out. Mr. Lyskowinski, the general prom sponsor, is in charge of picking committees from the junior class. After students pick a theme for the prom, sponsors and students alike are kept busy working. Mrs. Houston helps organize the invitations while Mr. Horton, Mr. Brock, Mr. Richard Bottorff, Mr. Joe Bottorff, and Mr. Dittmer all take part in helping to build the major decorations. Mr. Unger gets the "prized" job of heading the clean-up committee. Without a doubt, these junior sponsors are indispensable during junior activities during the school year.

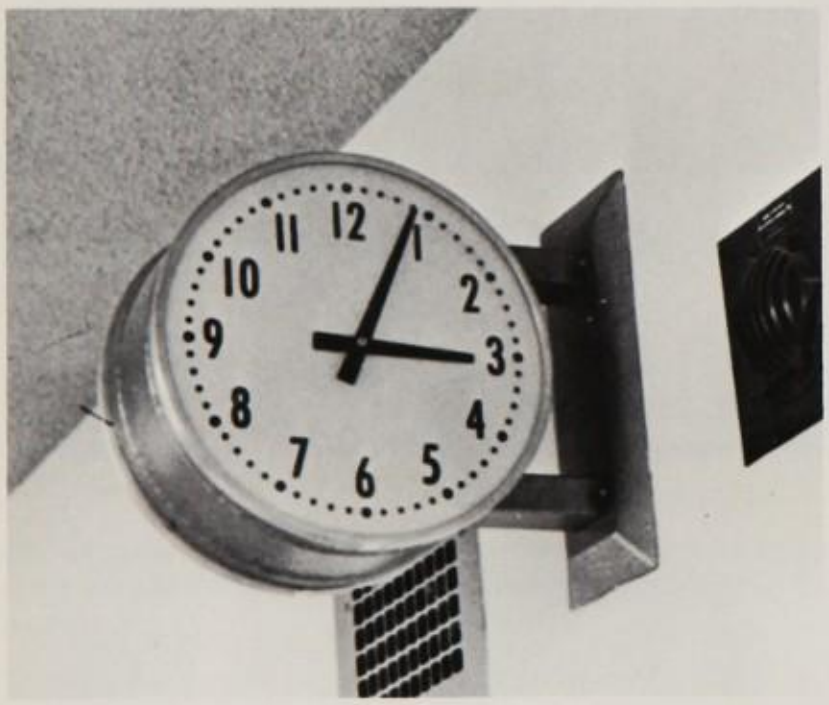
In the spring of 1969, Baron Hill provided an exciting finish to the 100-yard dash in the Sectional track meet.

Junior Jean Hendrix was one of many new students to our school who found out that 1970 was an exciting year.



At 2:30 the building was empty of most seniors; then the juniors became the chief clock-watchers in the building.

Mr. Stickles and Mr. Lasater sport their boutonnieres, Christmas gifts from the senior class.

Class of 1972

Sophomore sponsors are: SEATED, Mrs. Marilyn Hacker, Mr. Kenneth Warbritton, and Miss Gladys Gilpen. STANDING, Mr. Jon Geuder, Mr. William Lasater, and Mr. Gerald Alexander.

Officers representing the sophomore class were: Ted Clark, vice-president; Shelly Chisham, secretary-treasurer; and Mark Spurgeon, president.

The sophomore year means many different things to many different people. Even though they're the largest class at SSHS, the sophomores seem dominated at times by the upperclassmen because they have so many things to learn at a school that's new to them.

Still, the year holds many memories for the "tenth-graders" by the time it's over. Highlights include reserve cheerleader try-outs, using the voting machines to elect their own representatives and queen candidates, ordering school rings and keys, and beginning to specialize their education with everything from typing to drivers' education.

In Memoriam

There is a Reaper, whose name is Death
And, with his sickle keen,
He reaps the bearded grain at a breath,
And the flowers that grow between.

Oh, not in cruelty, not in wrath,
The Reaper came that day;
'Twas an angel visited the green earth,
And took the flowers away.

Athletic Board

The Athletic Board is an organization which few students know anything about. But without these men, the athletic department would be completely unorganized. The board, along with the Athletic Director, consists of the head coaches of each varsity sport, the principals of junior and senior high school, a school board member, and the superintendent of schools.

Lloyd "Barney" Scott serves as athletic director.

At intervals throughout the year, the Board holds "breakfasts" at the SSHS cafeteria to handle current problems and affairs. Here, members listen intently as Mr. Scott proposes amendments to the group's constitution.

The Athletic Director arranges the sports programs of the school system. Ticket sales, schedules, and matters involving the coaches are some of the areas overseen by the Director and the Board. The Board also provides a well organized, uniform sports program that helps SSHS students "unwind" in the proper way. The Board also helps to keep rivalry and competition within bounds. However, the Board is very enthusiastic and hopes to keep the SSHS school spirit alive at the same time.

Board members: SEATED: Mr. Britton, Mr. Cordes, Mr. Bulleit, Mr. Scott, and Mr. Englehardt. STANDING: Mr. Keyser, Mr. Suminski, Mr. Reynolds, Mr. Wintin, Mr. Deputy, Mr. Eastes, Mr. Burton, Mr. Hunterman.

Mr. John Britton—Baseball

Coaches

The coaches at SSHS deserve extra recognition this year as they have turned out another exceptional record in sports. These coaches have spent hours of planning plays, scouting other teams, instructing the athletes, watching movies of past games, and leading the Seymour Owls to victory. Oftentimes these men are forgotten—for this reason THE PATRIOT silhouettes the SSHS coaching staff.

Mr. Gordon Reynolds—Cross Country

Mr. Joe Suminski—Football and Track

Mr. Walt Wintin—Wrestling

Mr. John Eastes—Tennis

Mr. Barney Scott—Basketball

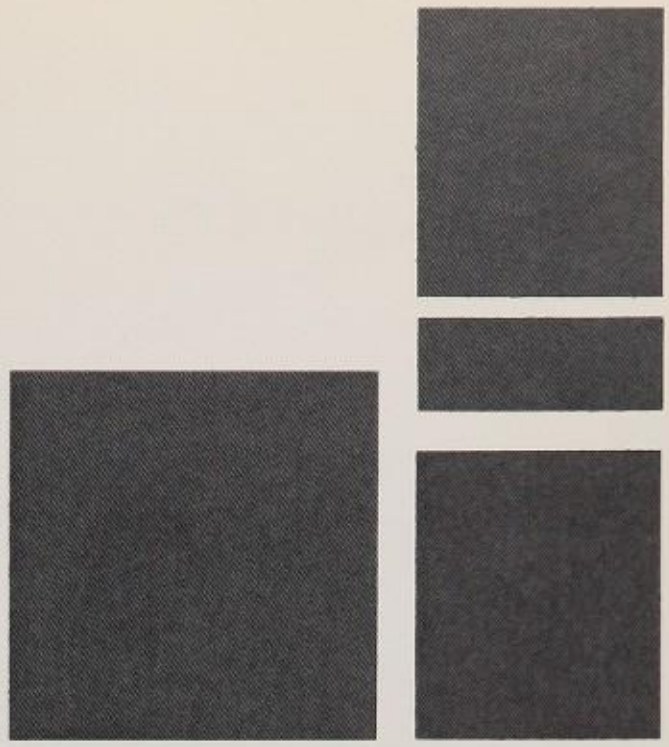
Mr. Jim Deputy—Golf

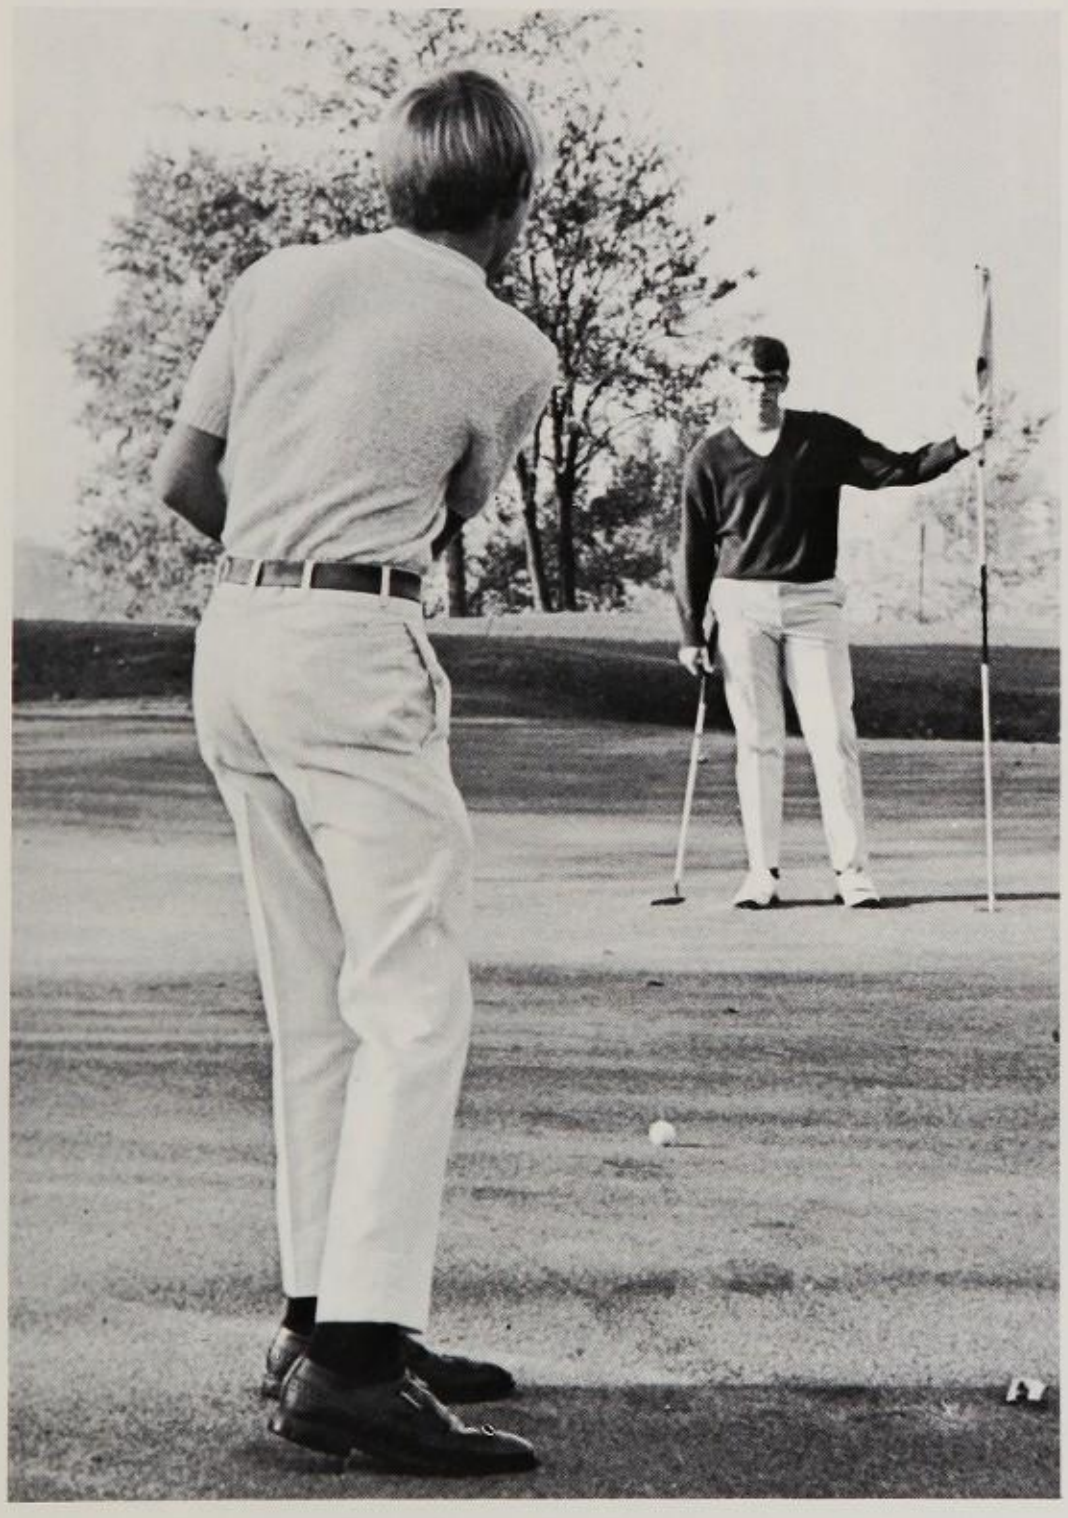
Golf

Senior Bill Doolan is a study in concentration as a camera placed beside the ball freezes him in the top of his backswing.

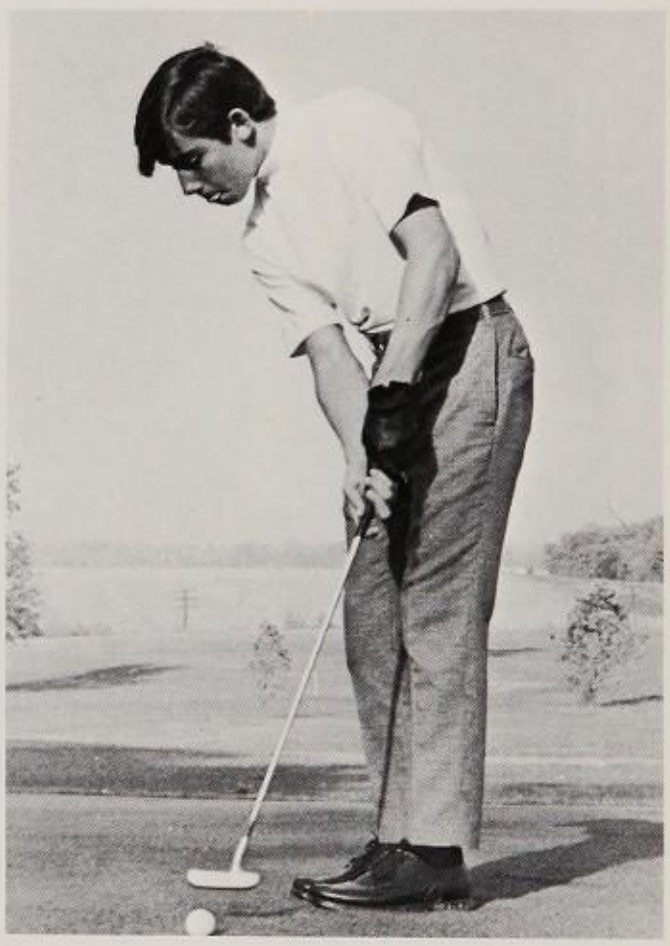
Members of the 1969-70 golf team were: Tony McKinney, Jim Doolan, Bill Doolan, Jim Jolly, Donnavan Howard, Terry Underwood, Nick Melander, Larry Martin, and Joe Laupus.

This year's young, relatively inexperienced golf squad finished their fall season with a sixth place finish in the conference meet. Coach Jim Deputy considered the fall season a success since all the boys were playing in their first varsity competition. Like the tennis season, the golf season is divided into two halves, and Coach Deputy looked for even more improvement in the spring season.

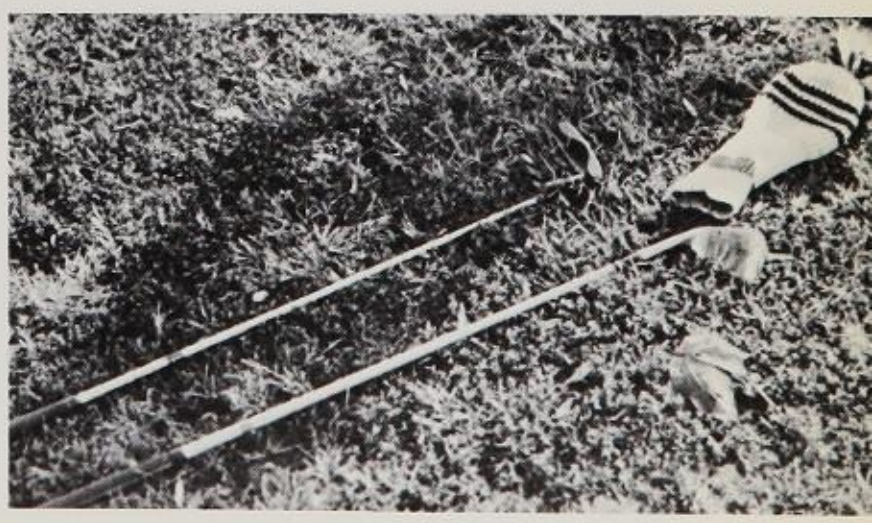




Larry Martin, a junior letterman, attends the pin as freshman Tony McKinney slowly rolls his putt toward the hole on the fourth green.



Tongue clamped firmly between his lips, Jim Doolan taps a putt lightly toward the hole.



Cross Country

Although this year's cross country team, coached by Gordon Reynolds, did not have an exceptionally good dual meet season, they did very well in the larger invitational meets. The team placed fifth in the New Albany Invitational, third in the South Central Conference, and fifth out of twenty teams in the Columbus Sectional. Larry Weber was elected as captain of the 1969 cross country team by his fellow team members. The most valuable runner was Mark Emkes, whose best time was a 9:56 run at Bedford.

The reserve team had their best year in the past five years. In the Seymour Reserve Invitational Cross Country meet, they finished third out of seven teams.

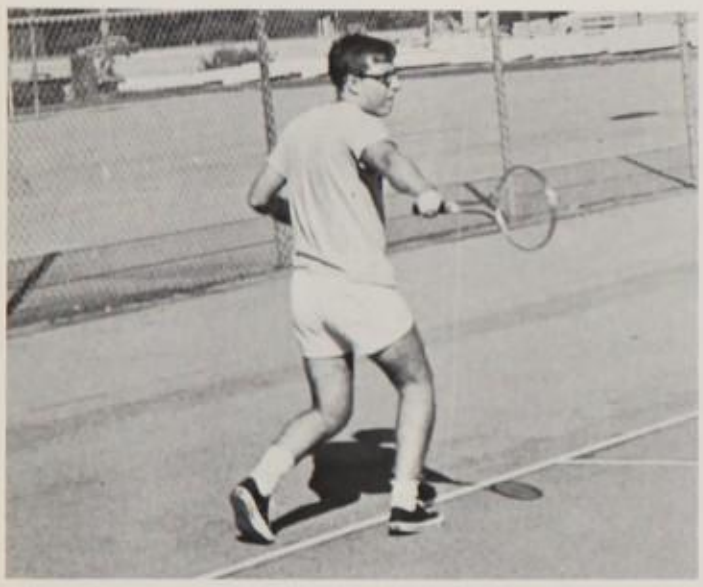
Tennis

Seymour's 1969 tennis team, coached by Mr. John Eastes, finished the spring season undefeated in their thirteen matches. Their fall season proved to be almost as impressive with a record of 5—2. Jerry Loper and Roger Dieckmeyer teamed to win the doubles crown of the 1969 spring conference and in the process led the team to the conference title. Rod and Stu Hackman also took honors in the spring conference. Jerry Loper won the singles in the 1969 sectional while the team placed second. The team hopes that next year will be as successful as this year has been.



1969 conference members earning points were Rod and Stu Hackman, Jerry Loper, Roger Dieckmeyer, with Coach Eastes.

Jerry Loper won the singles in the Southern Indiana Sectional in the fall of 1969.

Coach Britton points something out to one of the players.

Keith Sinn and Coach Suminski watch a play develop before sending in a new play for the next situation.

For a Seymour Owl, each football season starts in mid-August with two grueling practices a day. When school finally begins in early September, the morning practice sessions are dropped, but by then each boy needs dedication because the season has already become a long, hard grind.

The dedication paid off in 1969, though, becuase the footballers completed Seymour's first winning season in three long years, finishing with a 6—4 record, under new coach Joe Suminski.

Two members of the team, junior Baron Hill and senior Mike Sentz, were honored by a vote of the South Central Conference coaches as members of the SCC All-Conference Team. Highlights during the season included the football jamboree at Columbus, the Dads' Night game against Columbus, and the annual Homecoming Game against Martinsville.

Basketball

Varsity: KNEELING: Baron Hill, Max Siefker, Joe Hackman, Dan Deputy, Mark Emkes. STANDING: Richard Growe, Rick Mousa, Larry Weber, Stan Schroer, Coach Scott.

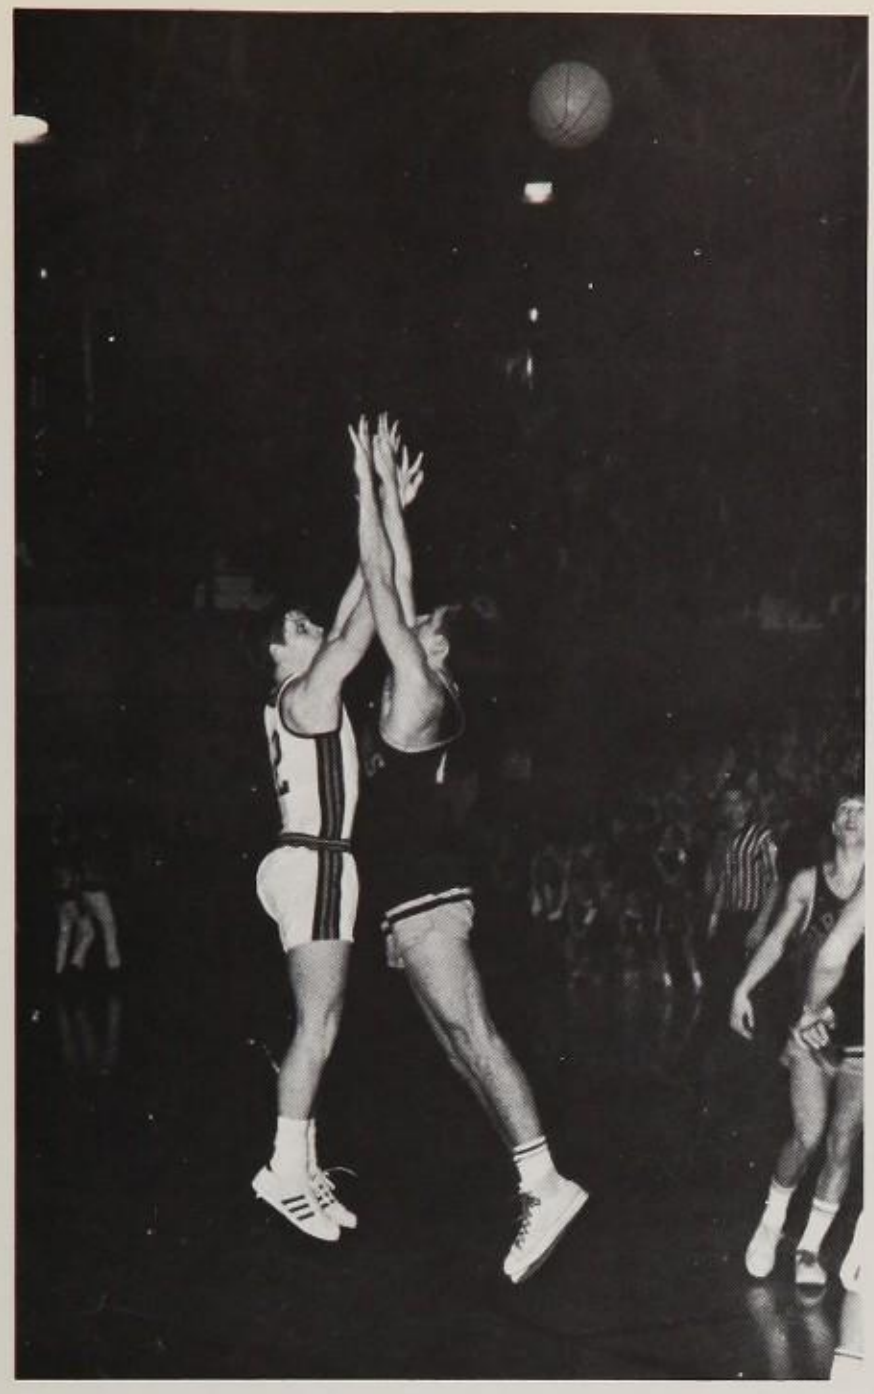
Team members emerge from the bus after a long road trip during the middle of the season.

Tourney Tip-in



Closely guarded by a Scottsburg Warrior, junior Baron Hill fires a jump shot in the afternoon game of the Sectional tournament.

SEATED front and center, the members of the varsity basketball team were the guests of honor at the Friday afternoon Sectional pep session.

The cheerleaders' faces registered four different emotions as the Owls squeaked through the Sectional finals with Jennings County.

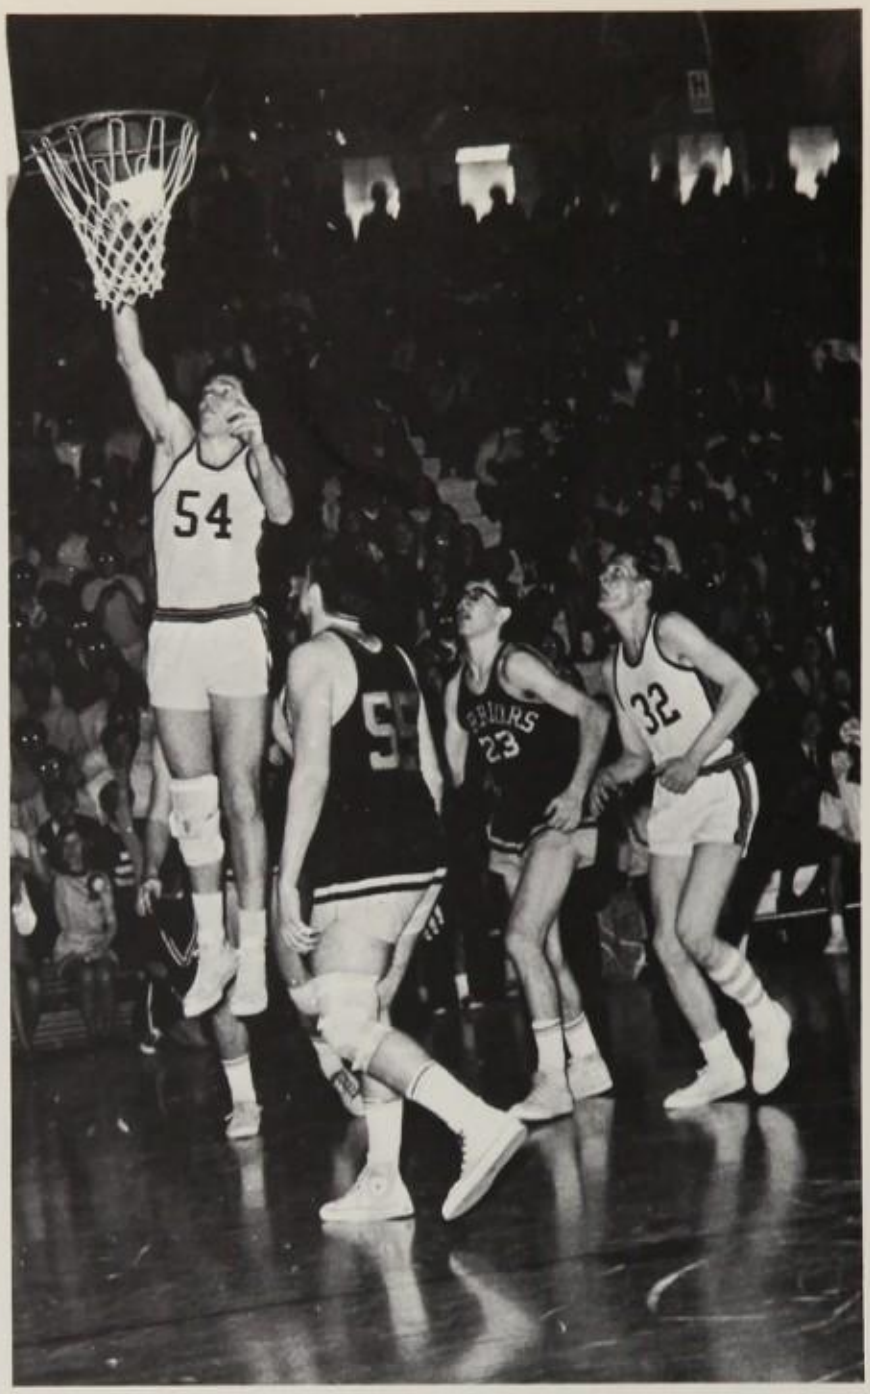
Yearbooks that are released in the spring are planned in the late fall. Back in September of 1969, when the 1970 "PATRIOT" was being laid out, the staff decided to devote four pages to basketball, the same amount devoted to the other major sport, football.

As the season progressed and the basketball Owls piled success on top of success, the staff slowly realized that these four pages would not be enough to do the team justice. There is a yearbook device called a "tip-in." It is a four or eight-page segment sewn into the book after the lay-out has been completed. Because it's sewn in late, its pages do not appear in numerical order with the rest of the book.

The 1970 PATRIOT staff hereby presents this "Tourney Tip-in," devoted to the greatest basketball team Seymour Senior High School has ever produced.

Sectional Tourney

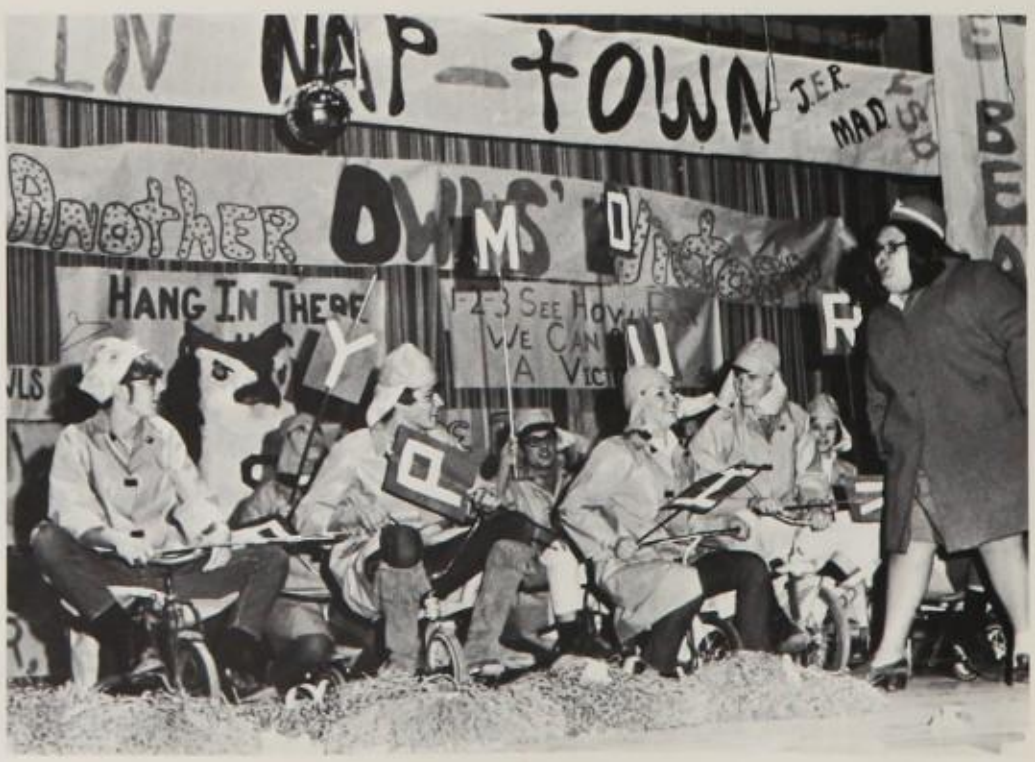
Peggy and Margy whoop it up after Seymour squeaked through its second one-point victory of the tournament.



Rick Mousa goes up and over all of the Scottsburg defenders as he lays in a two-pointer during the afternoon contest.

The Seymour Owls went into their own Sectional tournament as heavy favorites because of their gaudy 20—0 season record. Due to the consolidation of Clearspring High School, this year the tourney contained only seven schools, giving one of the teams a first-round bye. As luck would have it, Seymour drew that bye and did not have to play until Saturday afternoon.

The fans were not sure whether this draw brought bad luck or good luck, however, because in their two Saturday games against teams who already had at least one game under their belts, the Owls managed two one-point victories, over old nemesis Scottsburg in the afternoon and against a fired-up Jennings County outfit that night.



The highlight of the Sectional pep session was the seniors' "Yellow Angels" skit, complete with Nancy Anthony as a Keystone Kop.

Regional Tourney

Larry Weber led all scorers in the championship game by scoring on fast breaks like this against the astonished Bloomington defenders.

Staunchest supporters of the Owls all season long, the Pep Club "raised the fieldhouse roof" as the Owls won both games with ease.

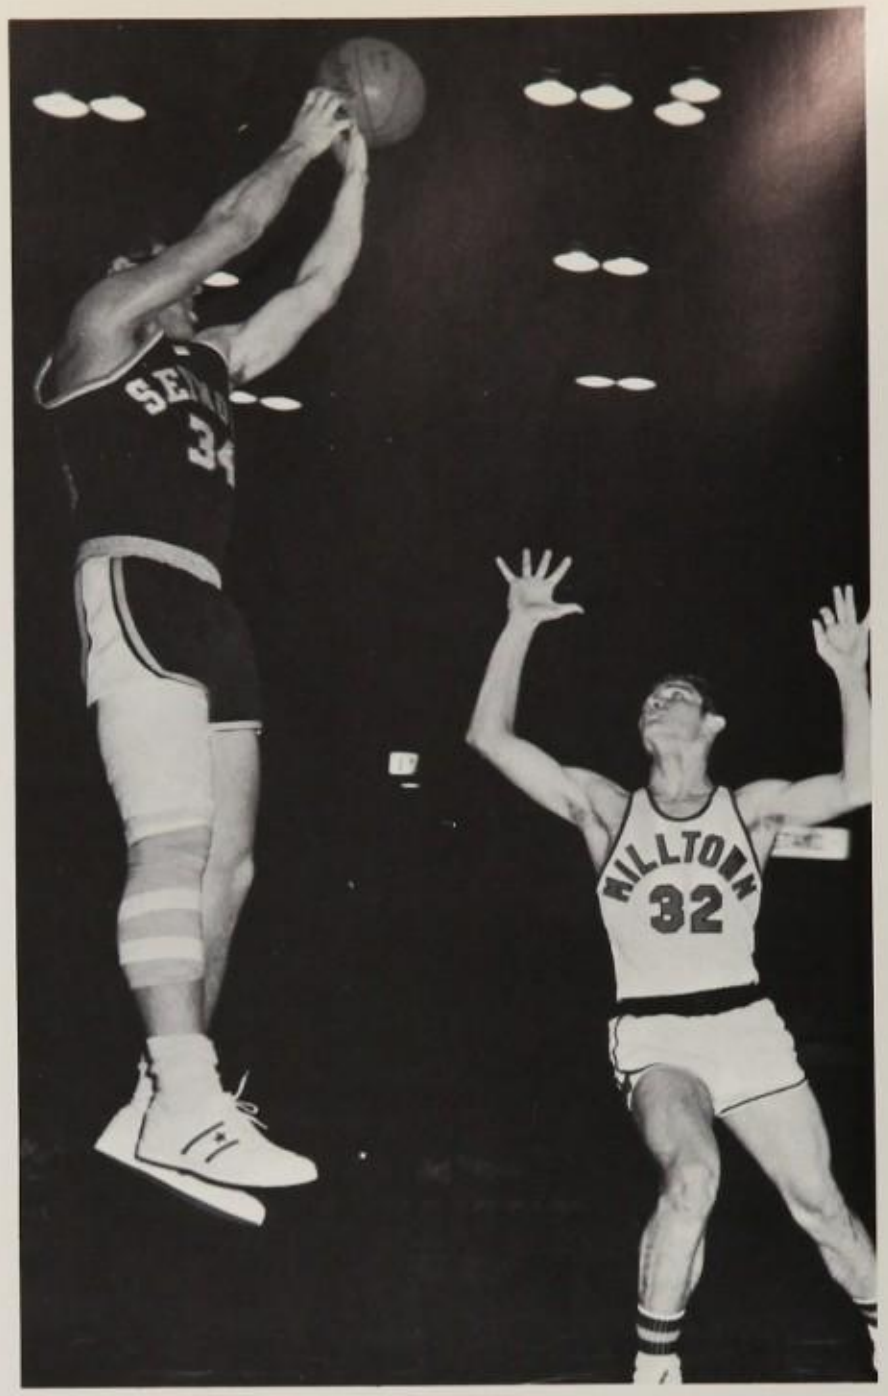
After the first Bloomington Regional victory in the school's history, coaches, players, and cheerleaders posed for the "victory" picture.

After the Owls had two close calls in their own Sectional, many fans were unsure of the team's chances in the always-tough Bloomington Regional. The second-ranked team in the state soon dispelled all doubts by easily disposing of the Brazil Red Devils in the afternoon game, and then followed up that victory with an even-easier victory over the Bloomington Panthers in the championship contest Saturday night.

As had been the case throughout the regular season, each Owl played an important part in the two wins. All of the first "seven" men—Rick Mousa, Baron Hill, Larry Weber, Stan Schroer, Richard Growe, Dan Deputy, and Mark Emkes—chipped in with points, rebounding, and fine defensive play to convincingly whip both Regional opponents. By winning both games, the Owls also ran their consecutive winning streak to twenty-four straight games.

Semi-State Tourney

Spirits were still high after the afternoon victory as the cheerleaders posed with the floral display presented to the team by the seniors.



Stan Schroer goes way up over a flat-footed Milltown defender to score two of his points in the Semi-State's afternoon contest.

"All good things must come to an end," but most Seymour Owl fans are beginning to wonder why they must come to an end when they do. For the fourth time in a ten-year span, the Owls made their way to the final game of the Semi-State Tournament, only to lose for the fourth time, this time by a heart-breaking two points.

After a lackluster victory over small Milltown, the Owls played a nip-and-tuck contest with the Loogootee Lions that night, with Loogootee defeating the Owls in a thriller, 80 to 78, even though the Owls had four hectic shots at their basket in the final fourteen seconds!

All in all, the season had to be considered a success, as the Owls finished with a glossy 25—1 record.

Owls and Loogootee Lions both scrap for this rebound that eventually trickled out-of-bounds in the championship game.

The 1969-70 Reserve Squad ended their season with a fine 17—2 record, going undefeated through two-thirds of the season. Working with a mixture of both Sophomores and Juniors, Coach Stickles' team compiled the finest reserve record within recent memory. Also the reserve team won the Columbus Reserve Tourney which was held in early January.

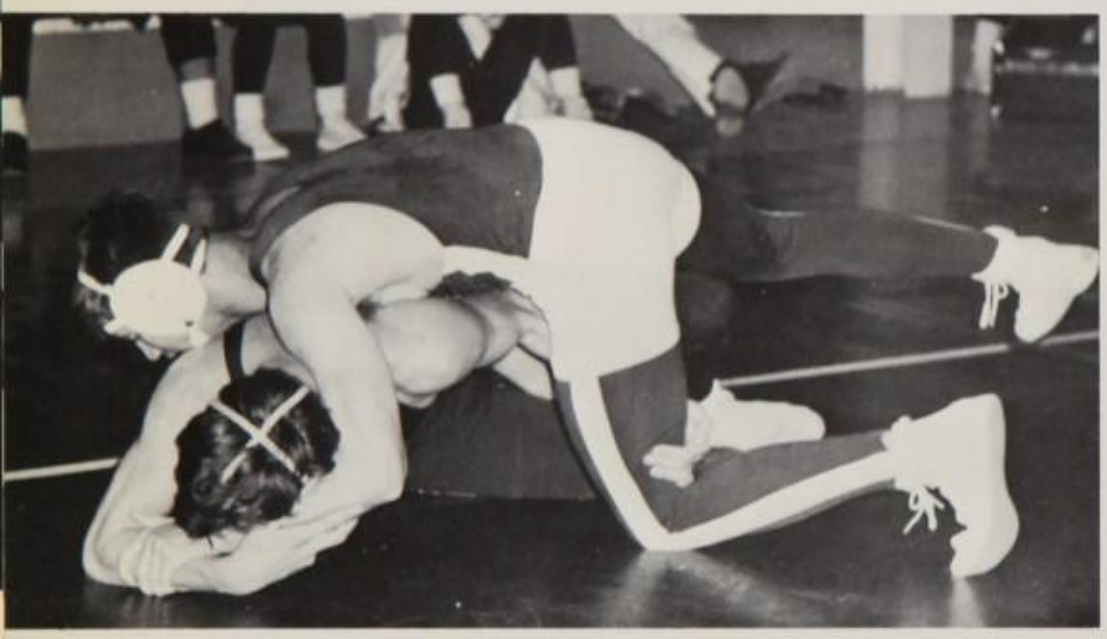
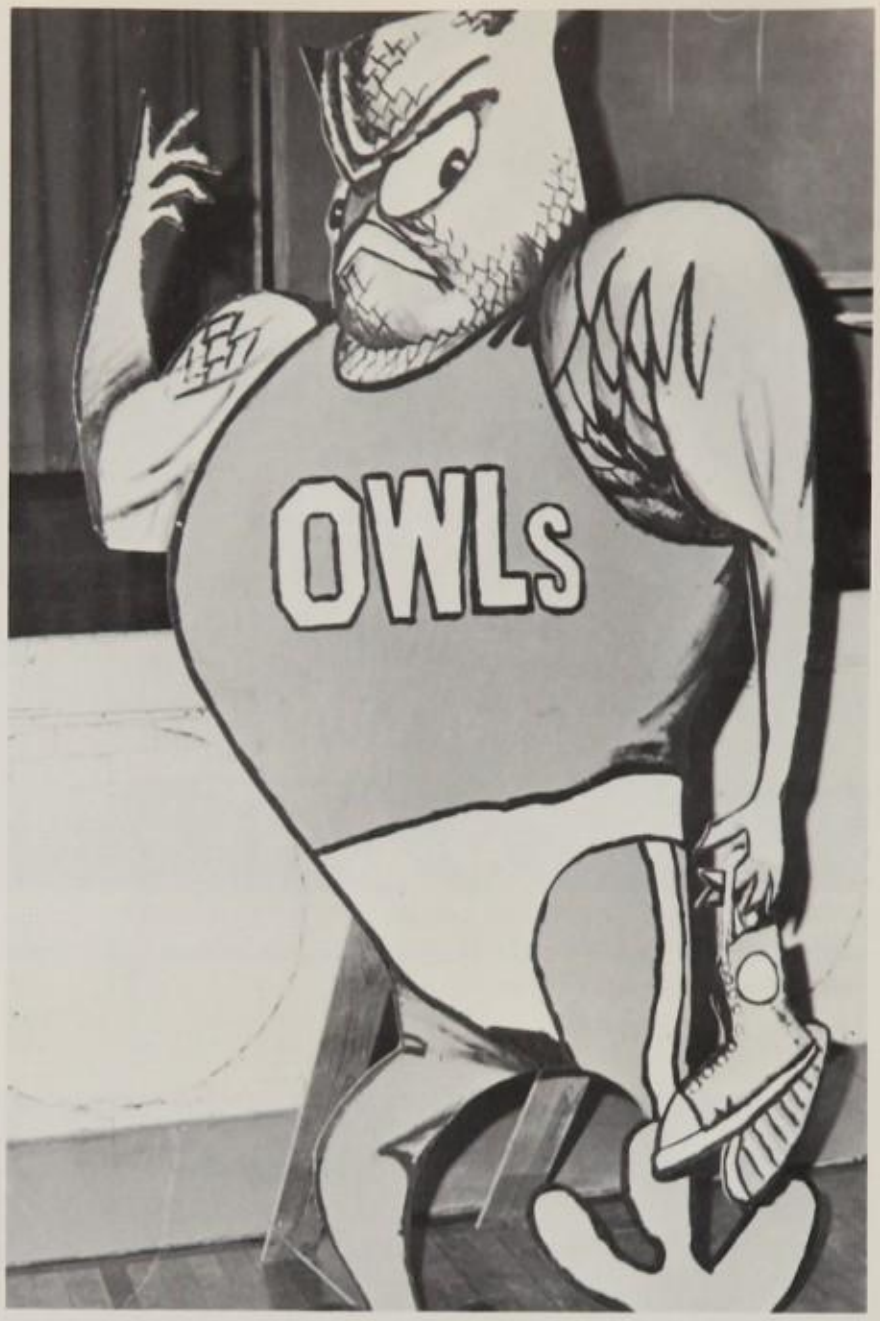
In the sixtieth year of basketball at SSHS, it was fitting that Seymour enjoyed its greatest team ever. In overpowering their first twenty regular season opponents, the Seymour Owls experienced their first undefeated season in history and maintained a number two ranking in the state throughout the entire season. Not only did the team go undefeated, but they rewrote the record books in doing so. On the night of January 24, Seymour defeated New Albany for their fifteenth straight victory, breaking the old record of fourteen straight wins that had stood for over thirty years, and went on to establish a new record of twenty-five straight wins. Against Madison, the Owls recorded 117 points, breaking the old school record of 104 and the gymnasium record of 110 points. The Owls also won the tough South Central Conference crown with a perfect 9—0 record to add to the glories of the season.

Big Rick Mousa led the Owls in scoring and in rebounding with a 19.3 scoring average and over 16 rebounds per game. Junior Baron Hill led the scoring off and on during the season and finished just behind Rick at the season's end. Senior Owls—all of whom played an integral part in the successful season—completing their final season were Larry Weber, Stan Schroer, Dan Deputy, and Rick Mousa.

Wrestling





New this year at all the meets was a seven-foot, full-color, plywood version of Sammy the Owl, designed by team member, Don Lawrence.

Guiding the matmen were Mr. Walt Wintin, varsity coach, and Mr. Michael Hollingsworth, assistant coach.

"Leroy" Lawrence scores a takedown, as the referee signals two more points for Don during his match.

Considering the goals established in the fall, the 1969-1970 wrestling season was a success. Led by Rex Wheeler and Don Lawrence, the Owl matmen won over half of their dual matches during the season, a goal set by Coaches Wintin and Hollingsworth before the season even began. Although the team was considered as being "rebuilding," the wrestlers rattled off four straight wins during the middle of the season, assuring a winning ledger.

Baseball

Rusty Kemmerer throws a fast ball to a waiting Austin player in the 1969 Baseball Sectionals.

For the Seymour Owl baseball team, the 1969 season was a very good year. Under the leadership of Coach John Britton, they not only won the conference, but captured the sectional title as well.

This win was the third straight sectional title for the Owls, and the conference win was good for three out of four in that category.

The Owl players, led by leading hitters Dave Stout and Rusty Kemmerer, posted a 15—8 record for the 1969 season.

Conference coaches elected Dave Stout and Stan Schroer to the all-conference team while Stan was also the "Most Valuable Player" and "Leading Pitcher."

Trackmen Win Sectional

Seymour's 1969 trackmen enjoyed their greatest season ever, concluding the regular season undefeated with a 13—0 record in dual competition. On top of all that, the Owl runners won the first sectional in recent years and placed a notable eighth in the regional. Baron Hill, then a sophomore, qualified for the State track meet and finished third in the 100-yard dash, tying the school record in that event. In fact, records were broken in four different events.

Above: Baron Hill extends his hand after defeating a rival in a closely fought 100-yard dash. Below: Charlie Fox leads the pack into the second lap of the 880-yard run in the Sectional track meet held here at Seymour. Lower right: Dennis Banks over the bar in the pole vault.

Owl runners Monte Schroer, Bill Kramer, and Mike Howser are vying for the lead, coming into the final turn of the grueling mile run.

Even though the Owl trackmen compiled the greatest record in recent times, the PATRIOT staff regrets there is no official team picture. Last spring, the yearbook was between editors, and there was no one to give the word to have the picture taken.

'69 senior Stu Silver clears the bar while warming up for his specialty, the high jump. Stu was a leading point-getter in the 1969 season.

Dennis Baurle starts his leg of the mile relay after a hand-off from Greg Schneck.

Varsity and Reserve Cheerleaders

In April of 1969, Denise Allen, Margy Jones, Judy Marshall, Peggy Randolph, and Jill Steinberger were elected to serve as the Varsity cheerleaders for 1969-70. The students chose these girls on the basis of poise, ability, pep, voice, coordination, and leadership. During the summer, the girls attended a cheerleader camp at Vincennes. While attending the camp, the girls learned new yells, skits, and pom-pon routines.

The five Varsity cheerleaders yelled during the football and basketball season at home and away games. During the halftime of the home games, the cheerleaders served as hostesses to the visiting cheerleaders. With Miss Graves as sponsor, the five girls helped organize the Pep Club and planned skits for the pep sessions.

SSHS Boys Participate in Intramural Basketball

The intramural basketball program, which was started last year for boys not participating in varsity winter sports, was organized by Mr. Scott, athletic director. The boys were divided into eight teams: Bullets, Hawks, Toolers, Sports, Hondoes, Cortlanders, Clubs, and Pacers. Each team had two captains who were responsible for the boys on their teams.

At the beginning of the season, each team had several practice sessions. The regular season, which lasted seven weeks, started in January, and the games were held each Tuesday night.

A regular season winner was chosen on a won and lost record. A second winner was chosen in an elimination tournament which was held after the regular season.

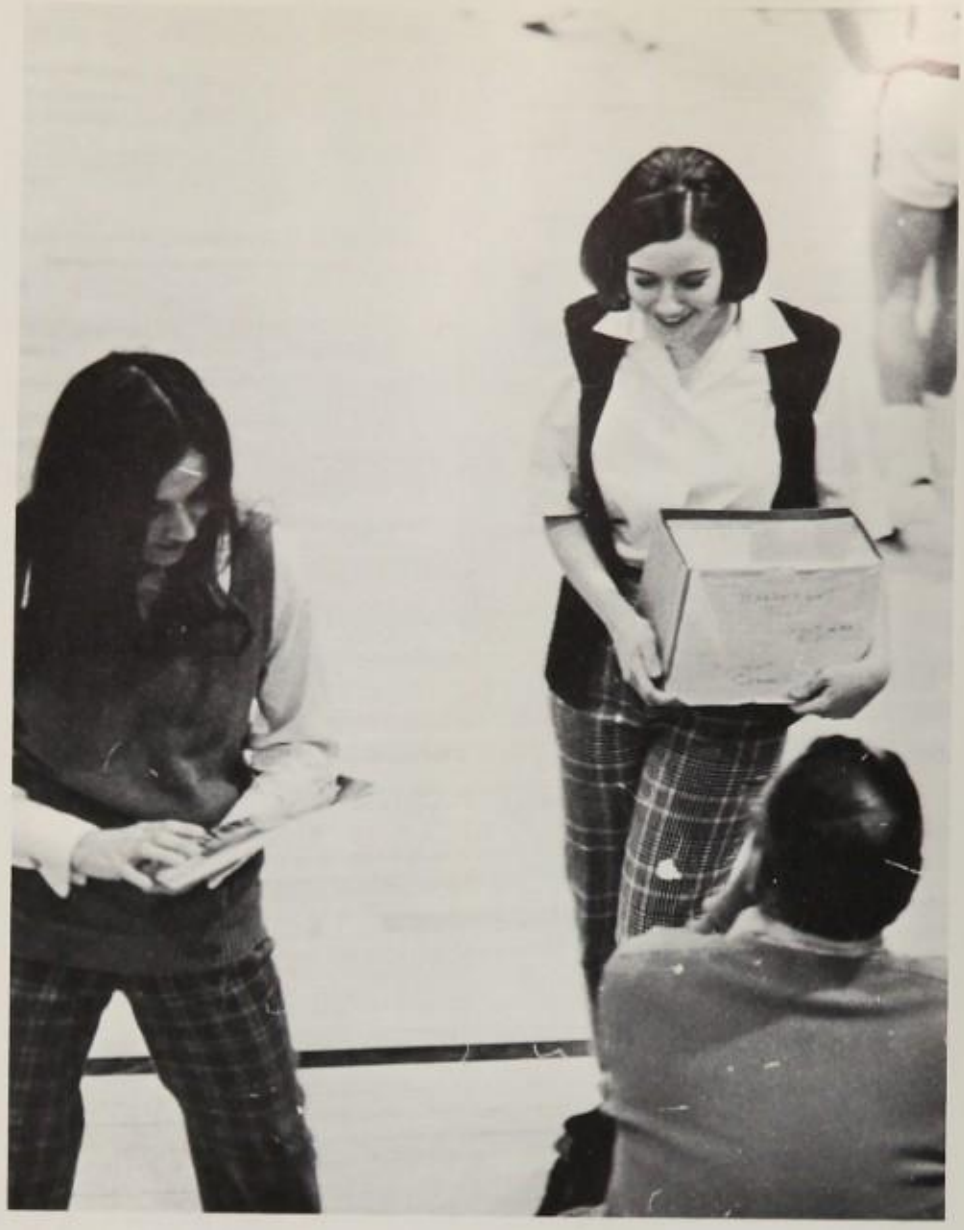
During its second year in existence in the 1969-70 school year, the Pep Club had many changes. First of all, it had a total of eighty-five members, twenty more than last year's. Also, this year, three girls from each class were selected by the club members to serve on the new Pep Club Council. This council served as a head for the Pep Club and kept the club organized and helped to make decisions concerning the club.

The Pep Club sat in a cheerblock during the home football and basketball games and pep sessions. The club met a few days before each game and practiced new yells, songs, and skits with the Varsity cheerleaders.

SILHOUETTES OF ORGANIZATIONS

Advisor for the Student Council was Mr. Jack Miller, vocational counselor at SSHS.

Council secretary Stella Klaes goes over her notes from the previous meeting before reading them to Council members.



The Council's big money-making project during the year was the sale of team pictures of the State-ranked Seymour basketball Owls.

Sophomore member Jon Bevers presents a question to the girls' side of the room in the Council's open-forum type of discussion.

Student Council Serves Throughout the Year

Council members "man their stations" behind a special table to aid parents, relatives, and visitors during SSHS's annual College Night.

Each autumn, the student body of SSHS "go to the polls" to choose four sophomores, four juniors, and five seniors to serve as the Student Council for the upcoming year. The duties of this group are varied. They serve as guides and as an "information booth" during such school-wide functions as Open House and College Night. During the school year they serve as a "sounding board" for students' complaints and suggestions. A suggestion box is placed in the library, and at their regular meetings, the council sorts through these slips of papers to discuss their merit, disregard some, and pass others on to the administration to be enacted or submitted to further discussion.

Letterman's Club

The members of the Lettermen's Club are made up of high school boys who have earned letters in various sports such as: football, basketball, baseball, track, golf, tennis, cross country, and wrestling. The members of the club meet together to discuss the different problems and situations to better improve the welfare of the athletic program of the school.

Members who have earned sweaters, letters, and jackets proudly display them at various sporting events during the year, such as when the members form two lines for the basketball players to run through.

Schedule pens were sold this year by the club members to help finance awards and trophies. In the spring, the members usually attend some sporting event, like a Cincinnati Reds baseball game.

Girls' Athletic Association

Officers: Peggy Stahl, president; Alice Scott; secretary; Jana Sciarra, treasurer; Kay Ude, vice-president.

Mrs. Anne Knight, GAA Sponsor.

The Girls' Athletic Association, sponsored by Mrs. Knight, is composed of girls who are interested and active in many sports. The G.A.A. tries to accomplish many goals, such as fair play, good sportsmanship, physical development, and wise use of leisure time. Some of the activities the girls participate in are: bowling, volleyball, softball, basketball, and field hockey. Blazers, plaques, and letters are awarded for outstanding accomplishments in G.A.A. activities.

Girls participate in sports by seasons. In the fall, members play flag football and field hockey. During the winter, members enjoy volleyball and basketball in the girls' gym. In the spring, the girls return to the athletic field for softball and track.

Hi-Y Promotes School Standards

Each year the Hi-Y at Seymour Senior High School strives for their motto, "Clean Thoughts, Clean Sports, Clean Speech, and Clean Habits." Through the leadership of Mr. Unger, the sponsor, the boys are taught to do something good for their community and their school to promote high standards of Christian character throughout the community and school.

This club was first formed by the YMCA for high school boys to foster high standards of character and conduct. The SSHS chapter meets at regular intervals throughout the school year under the leadership of John Hall, club president.

Tri-Hi-Y Promotes Christian Living

Tri-Hi-Y officers are: SEATED, Kathy Roberts, vice-president, and Judy Marshall, president. STANDING, Trish Reedy, secretary-treasurer, and Vicki Coker, chaplain.

The Tri-Hi-Y, sponsored by Mrs. Marie Schneider, meets for the purpose of uniting members in a spirit of friendliness and promoting growth of Christian character. The Tri-Hi-Y grew out of the Hi-Y, the boys' organization here in Seymour. It was originally known as the Girl Reserves, a branch of the YWCA for high school girls. The girls are obliged to pay dues at semester intervals, which are used to meet the club's expenses. The club meets at regular intervals during the school year.

1970 Patriot Staff

The PATRIOT staff is one of the hardest working groups at SSHS. The girls start in mid-August by selling booster ads. As school begins, their work load shifts to planning of the actual book. The staff members and advisor are often at work in the building one or two hours after everyone else is gone. By February, the last deadline is met, and the staff can ease up a little, but there is still some work—until the new staff is chosen in late spring.

Since every girl is designated an "editor," it looks like a case of "too many chiefs and not enough Indians," but this is not true; Mr. Lewis insists that every girl be an "editor"—responsible for the entire editing process for a certain number of pages as the book is laid out.

The Seymour "Owl"

Mr. Hubert Rohrer served as advisor to the "Owl" staff.

The "Owl" is intended to keep SSHS students informed of coming events at school and to give a record of previous happenings. The staff averages sixteen issues a year, appearing roughly every other Friday.

The "Owl" is entirely put out by the students with a staff comprised of two journalism classes, four editors who alternate duties, and a student photographer, Jim Roberts.

This year the staff redesigned the front page, added more use of color and more pictures in presenting feature stories, sports events, and humorous articles.

Serving as editors were: Marcia Moritz, Jane Voss, Judy Hinnefeld, and Janet Butcher. They alternated duties throughout the school year.

Future Teachers of America

The Future Teachers of America is organized for those students interested in a teaching career or merely for those interested in the subject of education. Each month, the club meets at a home of one of the members where interesting topics are covered by guest speakers in the field of education. In addition, the group offers assistance to the faculty in many ways, such as serving as servers, hosts, and hostesses during such functions like the regular meetings of the Seymour Education Association.

F.T.A. officers chosen in an election by the members at the first of the year were: Jane Voss, vice-president; Jim Roberts, president, and Bev Seeds, secretary-treasurer.

Future Homemakers of America

Club Officers: SEATED: Bonnie McKinney, secy.; Stella Klaes, pres.; Jackie Miller, pub. rel.; STANDING: Anna Babb, parl.; Terri Brewer, rec. lead.; Jan Wehrkamp, vice-pres.; Yolanda Bridgewater, rec. lead.

The Future Homemakers of America is a national high school organization. Any girl may join, providing she has completed at least one semester of home economics. The club provides each girl with the background and knowledge essential for modern day homemakers. Cooking, sewing, and nursing are among the various topics covered. One of the impressive events during the year is the club's initiation, held during the first semester. The group closed their year's activities with a picnic in the spring.

Seymour's 1969 Marching Owls

A familiar sight to all Owl football fans was the Marching Owls leaving the stadium after a game, in step with the rousing sounds of the bass drums.

The band "season" is divided into two halves—the marching season and the symphonic season. The Marching Owls spent a busy summer and autumn, marching in many parades and giving numerous pregame and halftime shows at the home football games. The bandsmen and their director, Mr. Stephen McGrew, spent many hours of dedication in preparing for the busy year. The new uniforms were really "broken in," and many a bandsman found himself ready for the symphonic season to start.

Leading the Marching Owls throughout the year were Drum Majors Rick Kovener, senior, and Doug Lange, junior.

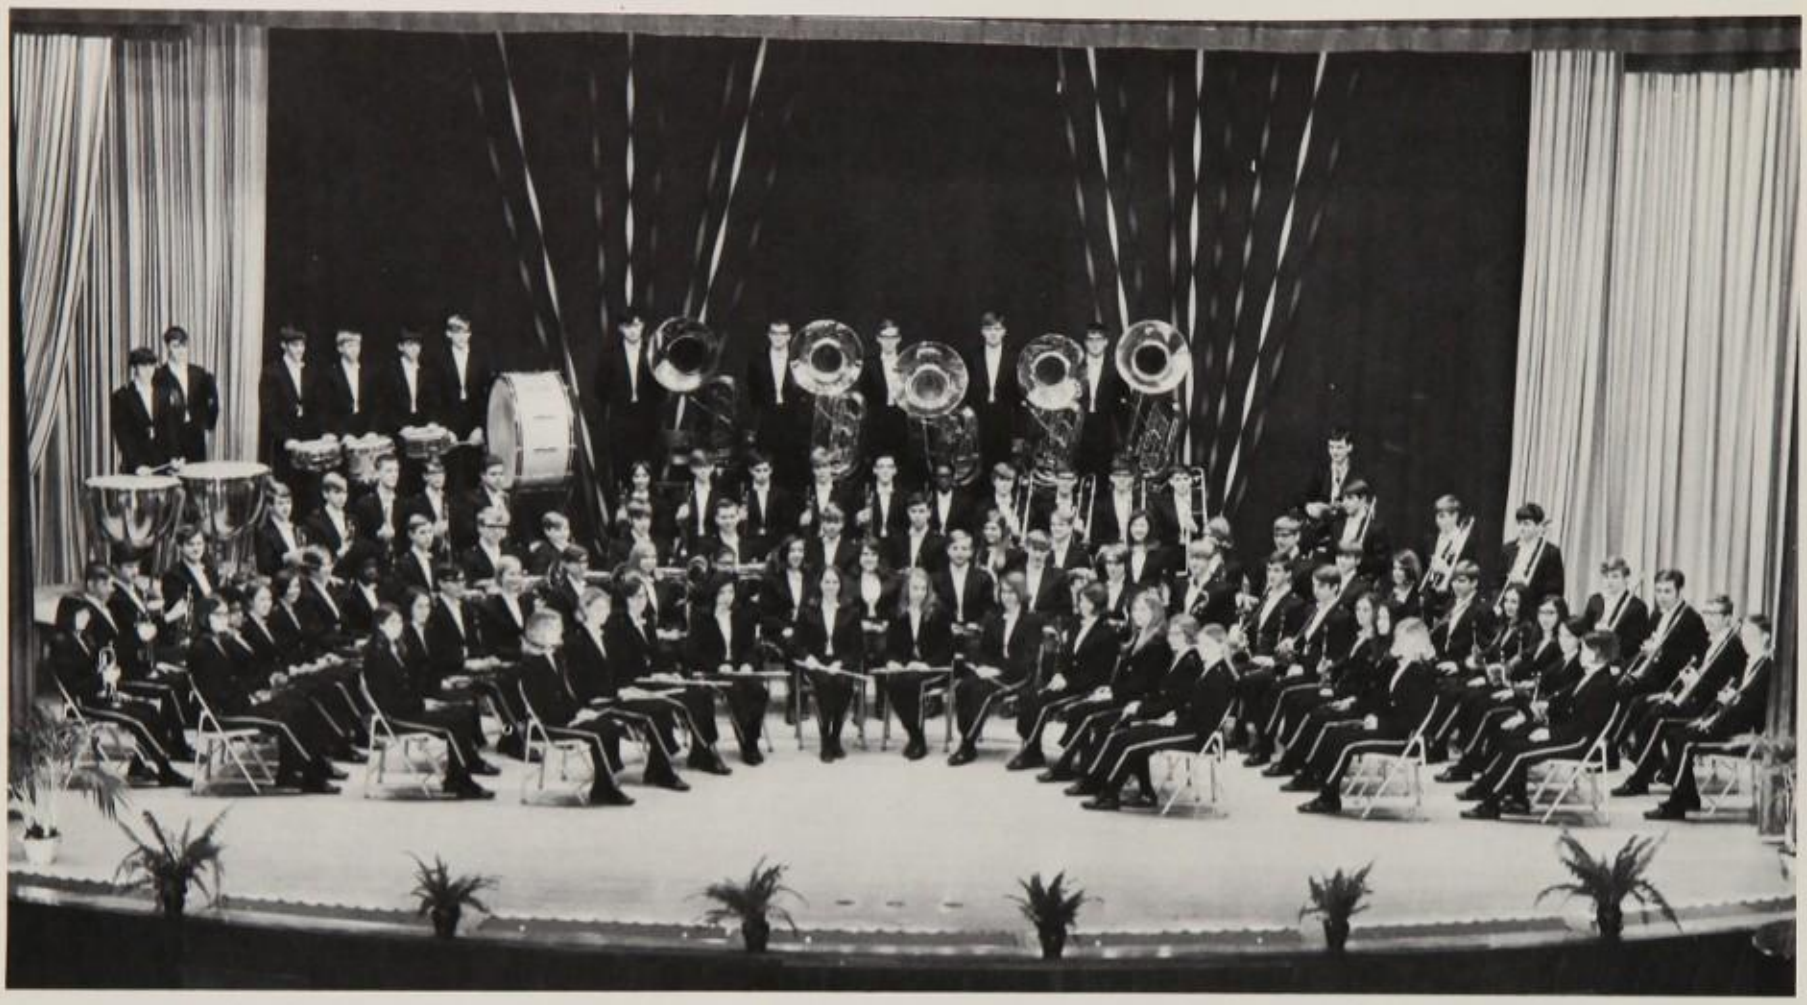
The life of the Marching Owls is a hectic one. Its ingredients are: a refresher camp during the unbearably hot days of August; spending the first period of the day—hot or cold—drilling on the football field; sitting bundled-up in the stands after a halftime show well-done; and the thrill of marching out of the stadium knowing that this night's performance has been appreciated by the fans. Most of the bandsmen wouldn't trade it for anything.

The 1969-70 Featherettes are: Debbie Brooks, Kathy Shade (feature twirler), Judy Christopher (Head majorette), Nancy Hopewell, Jane Keyser (Co-head majorette), and Patty Parker.

Symphonic Band Offers a Variety of Music



Campus Owls: Cathy Hauersperger, Valli Webster, Leon Taylor, Kevin Burbrink, Tim Wince, Ron Krisher, Mike Bode, Barbara Bingman, Jon Bevers, Kevin Krisher, Ron Pheral, Bruce Yeager, Bob Deschner, Tom Hemmer, Marsha Singer, Sylvia Kirkpatrick, Rick Kovener, Darlene Montgomery, Judy Christopher, Joe Welmer.

The Band Council works throughout the year, aiding Mr. McGrew in every position from Head Majorette to Band Librarians.

All State band members were: STANDING: Ron Krisher, Mike Bode, and Leon Taylor. Alternates were: SEATED: Valli Webster, Mary Hauersperger, and Darlene Montgomery.

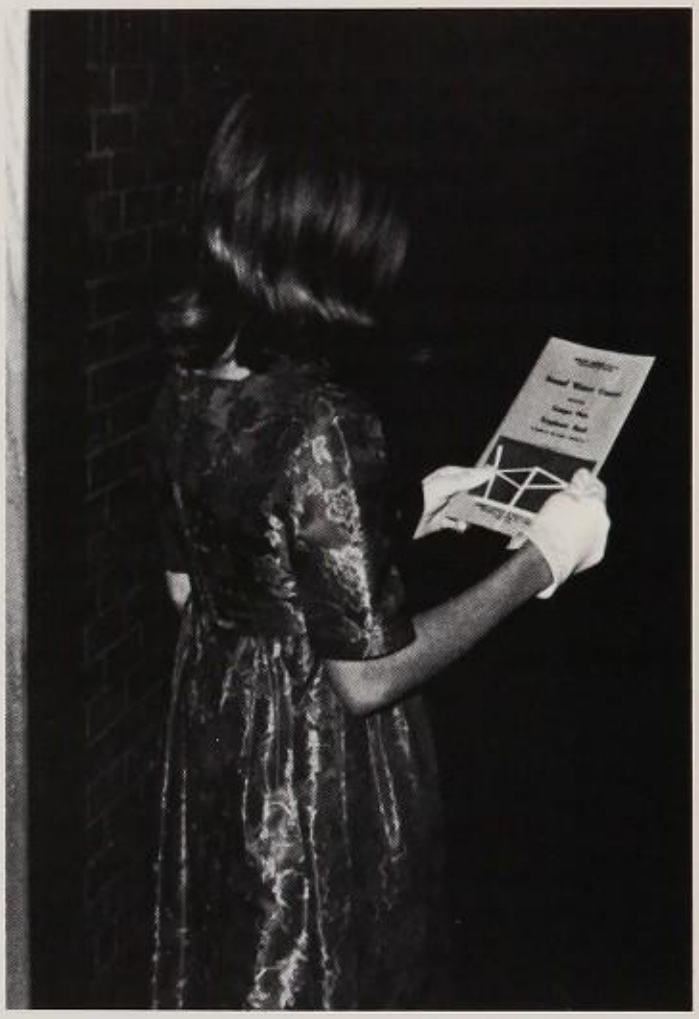
The members of the Marching Owls and the Symphonic Band are not without their award winners and their officers. The Band Council, chosen on the basis of the offices and positions that they hold, work with Mr. McGrew throughout the school year to keep the Band Department running smoothly.

In addition, the band's members have opportunities in the winter and in the spring to bring honors to themselves and to the Band Department, as a whole. The All-State band members were named in late January, just as members of the band were beginning to focus on the Solo and Ensemble Contests in the spring.



A hostess from the Concert Choir studies her program as inside the auditorium, Mr. McGrew gives the downbeat to start the Winter Concert.

Advanced Choir Presents Musicals

The Advanced Choir of Seymour Senior High School was really kept busy this past year. Early in November the chorus did a superb job presenting "Once Upon a Mattress." They followed in December with their Christmas program highlighting a "Gloria" cantata and other selected Christmas songs. In the spring they gave another outstanding performance of the musical "South Pacific" and ended the year with a trip to North Vernon for the Valley Choral Festival.

Mr. Prout, choir director, sits in the auditorium and calmly and surely surveys the cast as they present their dress rehearsal.

Concert Choir

The Concert Choir is composed of an all-girl chorus. These girls have been kept very busy. The first exhibit of their excellent tone this year was in December when they participated in the annual Christmas Concert. Later in the year the girls traveled to Indianapolis to present a musical program for the Veteran's Hospital.

Mr. Prout chats with accompanists, Kathy Lindsey and Rhonda Duwe.

Club members: Allen Jolly, John Mellencamp, Duane Rhoades, Ed Baker, Tim Wilson, Ray Bratcher, Sandy McDevitt, Debbie James, Gail Thompson, Bob Stout, and Chuck Brackemyre.

Art Club Promotes Artistic Endeavors

The Art Club meets regularly during the school year to watch films about various art subjects. Outside speakers come in to discuss commercial art, art colleges, and other related fields. The resource chairmen meet regularly with Mr. Hunterman and then report to the other members about different contests and other artistic work.

Officers are: Patty Parker, vice-president; Susie Teipen, president; and Sheila Baker, secretary-treasurer.

The Business Club, one of SSHS's oldest extra-curricular clubs, offers Seymour High School's business-minded students a chance to get together to share ideas.

Through guest speakers, field trips, and talks with the sponsors, the members have the opportunities to further their business interests outside of classroom activities.

Industrially-Minded Boys Share Interests in Industrial Arts Club

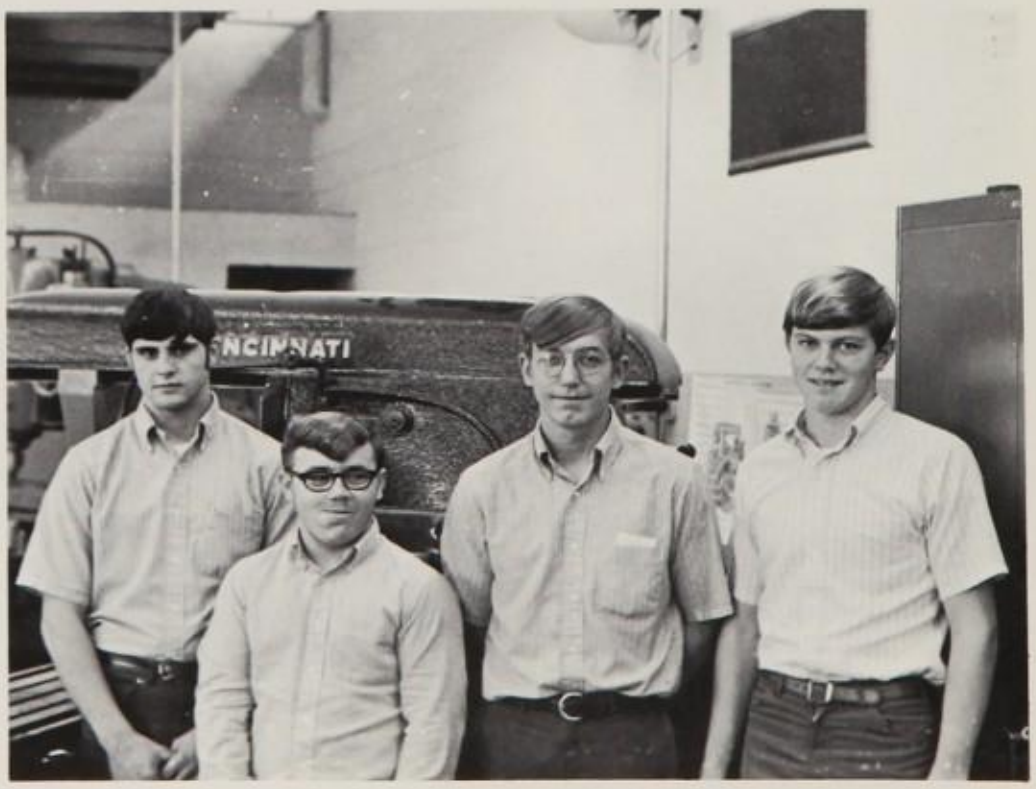
The Industrial Arts Club is open to all boys currently enrolled in industrial arts courses. The objective of the club is to stimulate a greater interest in industrial arts and to stimulate interest in hobbies. The club also takes field trips to several local industries each year to increase the members' interest in industry.

One of the main projects for this year was to adopt a new constitution for the club which will be put into effect next year.

New this year was a Junior Bowling League for the club's members, even though not all members of the bowling league had to belong to the club.

Sponsors for the Industrial Arts Club are Mr. Brock, Mr. Wright, Mr. Stahl, and Mr. Horton.



Club officers: Butch Isaacs, sergeant-at-arms; Ed Byers, vice-president; Dennis Motsinger, president; Randy Schepman, secretary-treasurer.

Science Club

Club officers: Debbi Brown, secretary-treasurer; Diana Mitchell, vice-president; Ed Ernest, president; Bill Steltenpohl, program chairman.

The Science Club, sponsored by Mr. Bell and Mr. Chastain, provides interested students an opportunity to pursue science further than daily classroom work is able to provide. The club meets monthly and engages in such activities as field trips to different industries and laboratories. Various community leaders and industrial personnel are invited to encourage the members to do science research projects.

Dramatics Club

Officers serving both clubs were: Bob Anderson, reporter; Cherie Beamer, recorder; Lovella Reichenbacker, secretary; Doug Lange, president; and Jeanine Jones, treasurer. (not pictured, Bob Hazzard)

The Dramatics Club is one of the fastest growing clubs at SSHS, in both size and popularity. There are a number of reasons for this. One is the new dramatics theory class, which whets the appetite of all the budding actors in our school. Secondly, with the creation of this class came the opportunity to perform on stage in three convocations added to the school calendar. Needless to say, many members of the Dramatics Club took the chance to participate in both these new activities, causing interest in the club to rise.

In addition, the club offers the opportunity for members with like interests to get together to share ideas about acting, directing, costuming, make-up, lighting, and all the other back-stage chores that make a school play successful.

National Thespian Society

Bob Gillaspy is highlighted in a scene from "Arsenic and Old Lace."

The National Thespian Society is a special "offshoot" of the Dramatics Club. It is affiliated with the nationwide organization of the same name and is intended to reward high school dramatics students who show a special proficiency in their field.

Seymour's two-year-old troupe is slowly growing as more and more SSHSers take part in dramatic activities. In the fall of 1969 members of the troupe played key roles both in front of the curtain and behind in the well-received production of the Broadway comedy, "Arsenic and Old Lace." Mr. Blythe and Mr. McCord co-sponsor the troupe.

Future Farmers of America

F.F.A. stands for Future Farmers of America, which is an organization for boys studying agriculture. To belong to this club, a vocational agriculture student must keep production records of a farm project that he has. The advanced degrees are earned by improvement, in scope and size of projects, amounts of money earned, leadership, agriculture activities, and scholarship. The motto of the club is "Doing to learn; learning to do." This motto is practiced in all F.F.A. activities and agricultural work. Students are divided into different groups according to their own progress. Initiations are held when a person wishes to enter into the organization. After being accepted, a student begins his way up to being a "full-fledged" farmer.

The Photo Club, sponsored by Mr. Dittmer, provides an excellent opportunity for an amateur photographer to develop his skills. The members study various methods of photography, developing negatives, and enlarging prints. Demonstration of materials and training films from local distributors contributes to the meetings. Each year the Photo Club examines and displays prize winning pictures with the hope of learning the characteristics of a good photo and applying this knowledge to their own pictures.

Officers: Jim Rindahl, Secretary-Treasurer; Phil Dittmer, Program Chairman; Rick Kovener, President; Randy Dittmer, Vice-President.

Creative Writing Club Gives Students a Chance to Write

A new club in the list of extra-curricular activities that SSHS offers is the Creative Writing Club, sponsored by Mr. John Lewis. The club operates much like an English class except that club members submit their work to other members' criticism instead of trying to please a teacher or a textbook assignment. The first six months are spent doing creative worksheets to be approved or criticized by other club members in discussion during the regular club meetings. The last three months are spent polishing up a literary work, written by members of the club, that is presented to the student body in mimeographed form.

The whole purpose of the club is to offer the opportunity to the students to write creatively so that their works may be made known to other students and so they can have some insight into the problems that creative writers face. The members turned out poems, plays, and short stories.

Officers of the club are: Lora Stone, secretary, Angela Rhoades, treasurer, and George Green, president.

The Latin Club Strives for Roman Ideals

The Latin Club, composed of pupils who are enrolled in Latin classes, aims to develop originality on the part of these students. Their motto is "Vincit que se vincit." This means "He conquers, who conquers himself." The many programs the Latin Club has are based on Roman anniversaries and holidays. They also spend time learning Latin songs and games based on Roman ideas.

Officers: Mr. Bottorff, sponsor; Jane Scales, Program Chairman; Joe Welmer, Vice-President; Joyce Von Dielingen, President; Becki Bowman, Chorister; Sue Pardieck, Treasurer; Kathy Shade, Secretary.

Officers: Valli Webster, President; Sally Wait, Vice-President; Julie York, Treasurer; Joyce Lawton, Secretary.

French Club

The French Club meets periodically to discuss common interests and problems of those students taking French. The French Club, sponsored by Mrs. Shields, allows all students taking French classes to join the club. The big highlight of the French Club year is a trip to a French restaurant for a complete French meal.

Spanish Club

The Spanish Club provides its members with an opportunity to learn of the customs and traditions of the Spanish-speaking world and to enjoy their music, games, and poetry to a greater degree than is possible in the regular classroom. The club is sponsored by Mr. Geuder and Mr. Hollingsworth. The motto of the Spanish Club is "El que habla dos lenquas vale dos hombres," which means, "He who speaks two languages is worth two men."

Any student who is taking Spanish in regular classes is eligible to join the Spanish Club. The meetings are held during the regular days of school each month.

Officers: Kevin Burke, Vice-President; Cindy Doolan, Secretary-Treasurer; Rick Baurle, President.

Just as the first step on the moon was a new and exciting experience for Neil Armstrong, the job of putting out a yearbook has been new and exciting for the entire yearbook staff. Writing copy, cropping pictures, fitting headlines, and choosing pictures were all new experiences to the staff; however, with the help of Mr. John Lewis, our sponsor, Mr. Bill Wright, our American Yearbook representative, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Jones, our photographers, and many other very co-operative people, we have completed our assignment. As we planned the 1970 yearbook, we tried out many new effects and ideas, just as Neil Armstrong tried out different effects and experiences. Although our exploring attempts will not be remembered in history as Mr. Armstrong's achievements, the Patriot staff hopes that this book will help the students at SSHS to remember their years in high school. Therefore, the 1970 Patriot staff has completed this new experience in the hope that all students will remember the Silhouettes of '70 at SSHS.
